Lee's dreams are going up in smoke

New downtown cigar emporium caters to the latest trends in lifestyle and taste

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Cigars are filled with more than tobacco. They come with their own rituals, tastes, blends, and sensory pleasure for people to savor. Today, the description of a cigar can sound as alluring as for a cabernet sauvignon. A cigar is a way to bring a day to a close.

Not everyone feels this way, but for the increasing number of people who do, the cigars at The Humidor, 552 Main Street, Antioch, may be just the specially-aged and protected tobacco that will give meaning to the experience.

Lee Herren, formerly a carpenter from Trevor, Wis., opened his new cigar store with its walk-in humidor in March, and has watched business steadily increase. He expects the trend to continue.

"I'm still waiting for the weather to break," said Herren. "I think that's the major thing — once the golfers are out and the boaters and the tourists."

Herren has created a store which seeks to protect the quality of his product, while at the same time offering as wide a range of sizes, types, and costs as can be found within 15 miles. It is a unique store in the region for these reasons.

"People say, 'I like your cigars because they are always fresh,' and that is important to me. I want to give them the best product possible," Herren said.

The walk-in humidor is the most evident expression of this attitude. It gives him maximum control of temperature and humidity so that he can keep his selection at its most enjoyable.

He sees a definite change in how people relate to cigars, a distinctly different experience from that of cigarette smoking.

"It's becoming more and more popular now than it was. There are more cigar bars, cigar-friendly restaurants... I think that it's becoming more popular or more accepted as opposed to less."

It's becoming more popular with women too. "Most of the women who come in here are still buying for their husbands or boyfriends. But, I do have women who specifically say 'Oh, I like that cigar' or 'this is one of my favorites.' I see the increase in women smokers," Herren said.

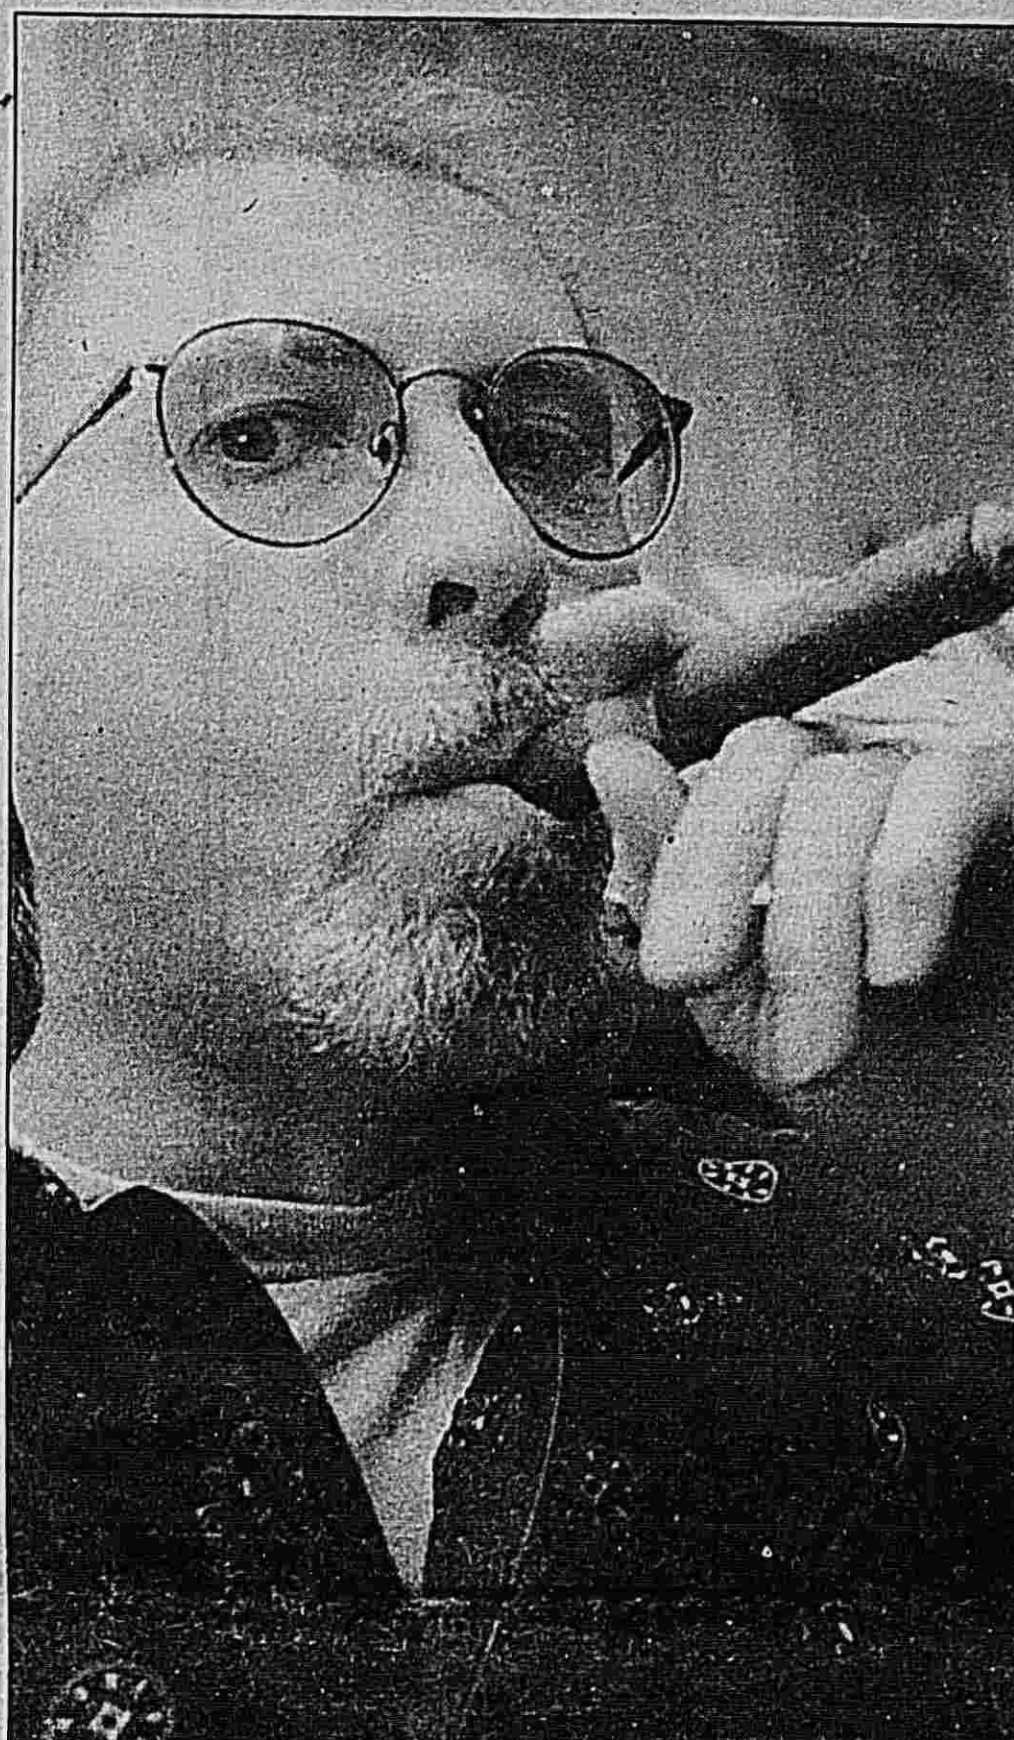

He cites reasons why cigars are a different experience from cigarette smoking. "You don't inhale cigars," he said. There are no additives. It is just 100 percent pure tobacco.

"I would say most people usually just want to sit down and enjoy one after a good meal." He does not think that people smoke many cigars in a day. "Maybe one or two a day."

"I have people who stop in here just about every day and grab a different cigar just to try different countries, different brands, different sizes. "At the end of a long day, you have a nice meal and a good cigar to go with it and it just relaxes the tension that builds up over the day. It's a tranquil, relaxing, enjoyable pleasure," he said.

He would like to participate in some of the public cigar smoking experiences that have occurred in other cities. This would include dinners in a local restaurant with cigar-smoke enjoyment afterwards.

"I definitely would love to get involved in something like that, but right now I just have not had the opportunity," Herren said.

Does a Cuban cigar offer something more than can be experienced with what he sells? No, he says. "The people that were making the cigars in Cuba have gone to Honduras, the Dominican Republic, Nicaragua. When they left, they obviously took their knowledge. They took their 'Cuban' seed with them. They took their top workers with them. So, nowadays, I don't think a 'Cuban' has much more to offer than any of the top, top of the line cigars."

If someone kicks back tonight, some Dexter Gordon saxophone coming from the music system, what can they expect to have paid for a top-of-the-line cigar experience?

They will have paid somewhat the same as the cost of the Gordon 'Round Midnight soundtrack disc they are listening to: $15.

New chief Watkins: Asks for help from community

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Deputy Chief Charles Watkins will take on the top assignment for the Antioch Police Department, May 16. Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug appointed the 20-year department veteran to the post at Monday's village board meeting.

Police Chief Charles Miller recommended that Charles Watkins be considered for the position in a letter to the Mayor.

"I would like to respectfully request that you strongly consider Deputy Chief Watkins to take my place as Chief of Police. Not considering such a capable person would be harmful to the morale of the department," wrote Miller.

Mayor Shineflug appointed Deputy Chief Watkins, because he has demonstrated his ability to handle the department. He had the support of Chief Miller, and it continues a tradition of stability in the community's most sensitive job, she said.

Deputy Chief Watkins expects to build upon the department's trends of the past several years during his term of service.

The Village of Antioch will host an open house for retiring Police Chief Charles Miller the afternoon of June 8, at the Antioch Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 4551, 75 North Avenue.

Deputy Chief Watkins joined the Antioch Department as a patrolman and was promoted through the ranks. Two years ago he was named Deputy Chief under Charles Miller, himself a long-term veteran of the department. Miller served the Village of Antioch for 30 years, 20 of them as Police Chief.

Deputy Chief Watkins said the department runs very efficiently at this

Hey, look us over! We're brighter, better

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

The "news" is better!

Our readers have been seeing and hearing that phrase in past weeks in their weekly newspapers, on cable television, on marquees and on the radio.

Starting today, our readers will find the "news is better" each week as they pick up the Antioch News, their hometown edition of Lakeland Newspapers.

Our new presentation is designed to be bolder, brighter and make a stronger connection with extensive, in-depth local news coverage.

Not only has the look of our newspapers been updated to be more visually appealing and modern, but we have added new content elements:

Each week, on page A3, you will meet your community news reporter through "Our Town," who will share anecdotes about your neighbors and friends, bright notes of congratulations and observations from around town. Our Neighbor profiles on page A9 highlight a different individual in the community each week to remind us of the good work that goes on behind the scenes of local organizations, churches and businesses.

Our redesigned sports section highlights local athletes and their accomplishments. An increased emphasis is being placed on stories that go beyond the playing field and into the minds and hearts of prep athletes and youth athletic organizations. Sports Editor Brendan O'Neill will be profiling student athletes in a prep-of-the-week feature.

Regional Editors Claudia M. Lenart and Kevin Hanrahan will help our award-winning staff of reporters to focus their reporting on impact of local government decisions.

Our papers will also take a more regional approach to news and feature coverage, because in a growing metropolis like Lake County, residents are affected by more than just what happens in their own backyard.

But as we strive to meet the needs of a growing county, we will continue to be the hometown paper, reporting all the local news, even small items, left out by out-of-town news organizations. Whether it's your town's newest Eagle Scout or champion fifth-grade basketball team, we will continue to herald the good news.

We also hope you will enjoy reaching out with ideas for "Our Town," "Neighbors" and news coverage of your hometown.

We want to hear your comments about these and other changes you'd like to see. Please call us at 223-8161 or e-mail us at edit@lnd.com.

Village memory to be recorded at luncheons

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

A series of three community luncheons begins May 13 to record the history of Antioch's downtown business area.

More than two dozen area residents, with knowledge of local stores, their builders, and past owners, will gather in the Maplethorpe room of the Community Development offices for a working lunch. They will share with village officials stories about the businesses that have served community residents.

Information gathered at the luncheon is to be placed on a commemorative plaque attached to each historic business location.

"We are trying to fill in the blanks of who occupied these different buildings, who owned the different buildings throughout the years, and any interesting bits of information," said Claude LeMere, community development director.

"For instance, Reeve's Drug Store, every Monday, would give a free ice cream cone to the kids," LeMere said. Indeed, village officials have discovered there was a "bookie joint" behind one town tavern.

Chairman of the luncheon data-gathering sessions is Lucille Kuechenmeister, Bristol, Wis. Robert Lindblad, president of the Lakes Region Historical Society, is general chairman of the Antioch Downtown History Year Committee.

"The objective here is preservation of our heritage... Through the growth period we're experiencing in the community, it is vitally important that we remember where we come from. Preservation of heritage through periods of growth is what keeps our community a tight-knit community," said LeMere.

The other luncheons will be May 20 and June 3.

Community history contributors who agreed to attend the luncheon to provide historical information include: Mildred LaPlant, Antioch; Ardis Anzinger, Antioch; Ida Kufalk, Antioch; Mrs. Don Harlem, Lake Villa; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wertz, Antioch; Clara Horton, Lake Villa; Zella Larson, Antioch; Edith Elms, Zion; Mr. and Mrs. C. Maplethorpe, Antioch; and Ruth Cribb, Antioch.

Antioch Downtown History Year Committee members include: Florence Hanke, Antioch; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Herman, Antioch; Lucille Kuechenmeister; Bill Wilton, Antioch; Dick and Pat Harland, Antioch; Robert and Georgia Ellis, Antioch; Robin Kessele; Billie Horton; Earl Beese; Eve yn Strang; Nancy Binder; Ruth Bem s, Antioch; Ann Kakacek; Dan Sills; Robert and Dorothy Lindblad, Antioch; Ainsley Wonderling, Lake Villa; and Claude LeMere.

Slide could attract more to pool

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Village trustees approved a conceptual list of park improvements Monday evening, but will revisit specific project proposals for budget approvals as the Park and Recreation Department brings them forward for implementation during the budget year.

The approved park department budget total for 1997 is $60,500, a 24 percent decrease from the 1996 total of $81,100.

The park improvement plan is a conceptual document to guide decision making during the budget year. Projects that are included fluctuate from year to year depending on decisions made by the department.

Village Trustee Dorothy A. Larson stressed that "they may not get some of the things on the list." Specific projects will need further village approval for budget expenditures.

The village budget will be voted upon by trustees in early June.

Laurie E. Stahl, parks and recreation coordinator, explained that fluctuation in budget allocations is a normal part of the department process. Proposed projects are reevaluated as the year unfolds and as demands upon the department's resources change in priority.

"Each year in the springtime, we walk through the parks and decide what needs to be done," she said. Project proposals, however, may be added or subtracted to the list at any time.

One high interest project, the Williams Park pool waterslide, "isn't a done deal," cautions Trustee Larson. Stahl agrees. "The park board is still in the process of evaluating the waterslide improvement," she said.

Stahl notes "We are trying to increase the number of people coming to the pool," and it is expected that a waterslide would help achieve that goal. It would provide an upgrade to the quality of the recreation experience at Williams Park.

CHIEF :Watkins to lead police time, in part due to the introduction of technology to assist officers. He said that he expects that trend to continue. Improved use of existing computers for records management is a current goal, and perhaps laptop computers for field officers is a long term goal. He still recognizes a large community-citizen component of police work, however.

"In the past seven or eight years, police have recognized that they can't do it alone... We do need the help of the community," Watkins said.

Department programs reflect that trend with enhanced community policing, crime prevention programs, COPS Grant program support, and citizen education programs about criminals and their activities.

Deputy Chief Watkins worked with Chief Chuck Miller for 20 years. "I've always admired him," he said. "He taught me a lot, not only about police work but also about people."

Deputy Chief Watkins encourages the community to turn out for the retirement open house for Chief Chuck Miller. "There are a lot of people to wish him well," he noted. The Police Chief has made a lot of contacts with both law enforcement professionals as well as Antioch residents.

Details about the village's plans for the retirement party are available from Village Clerk Candi L. Rowe at Antioch Village Hall, 395-1000.

Vehicle stickers now available

Vehicle stickers for 1997-1998 are now available from Village Clerk Candi L. Rowe at Village Hall or by mail. After June 15, a $2 late fee is added to each sticker. The stickers should be on vehicles now to avoid fines and court costs.

Residents are required to purchase stickers for cars, trucks, motorcycles ($10), and antique automobiles ($2). Replacement stickers are available ($2), and people who are 65 and older receive stickers for $1.

Completed registration forms can be dropped off at the Village Hall or in the night slot (below the bulletin board). Mailed-in registrations can be sent to Village Hall, 874 Main Street, 60002.

Hello and welcome to 'Our Town'

I am tempted to introduce myself with Max Yasgur's proud 1969 declaration at Woodstock: "I'm just a farmer." That was true 12 years ago. Today, I am the staff reporter for the Antioch News-Reporter. I have lived in Trevor since 1993.

I published my first newsletter on the Campus School mimeograph machine in Gorham, Maine, in 1953, eight years after I was born.

I still remember my first published story on the front page of the Dolan Junior High School student paper in Connecticut. It was the town where I had my Stamford Advocate newspaper delivery route. The paper cost 7 cents, cheap.

After work on my high school and college papers, I went after real money. I left Rockford College and then Northern Illinois University to serve Rockford, Ill., as an urban planner. I married a wonderful farm family daughter in a fresh mowed field of spring Meadow fox-tail, Reed canary, and Timothy grasses. I continued to work as a regional planner in DuPage County and, in 1976, I started a five-year career at the Lake County Department of Planning, Zoning, and Environmental Quality in Waukegan. I have lived in or near Lake County ever since.

In 1982, I started growing grain Amaranth, a high protein specialty crop, and that got me into the business of also selling vegetables. I raised vegetables for several years and sold them at the Libertyville and Evanston Farmer's Markets.

One day I had to ask a local banker for money to help me build my mail-order sales amaranth business. I blinked. Instead, I returned to work at a transportation engineering firm, Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc., as an environmental consultant. There I was a co-author of the Elgin-O'Hare Expressway Environmental Impact Statement prepared for the Illinois Department of Transportation. That led to writing some technical reports for the Route 53 Extension Impact Statement here in Lake County, also known as FAP 342.

In April, Lakeland Newspapers hired me to work for them. Thanks Rhonda. I am now back where I should have been when I stepped out of college.

Now, write and tell me what you did last week.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town," call staff reporter Ken Patchen at 223-8181, ext. 131 or e-mail, edit@lnd.com."

COURAGE seeks adult volunteers to keep anti-gang effort going

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

An anti-gang group has met with past success, but for continued success new adult volunteers are needed.

COURAGE (Community Outreach Uniting Residents Against Gang Environment) is a group of parents, police officers, teachers, and concerned citizens meeting with area teenagers for social occasions, special activities and trips.

"We really need new involvement," says Patrolman Chad C. McCameron, of the Lindenhurst Police Department. Past active volunteers need to be replaced with new committed adults.

Active for the past few years, the group has organized special ski trips, parades, skate board outings, roller blading, float building, camping trips, and Great America trips for interested area teenagers and their friends.

"I definitely believe it's had a positive impact," said McCameron, who has been involved with the group recently.

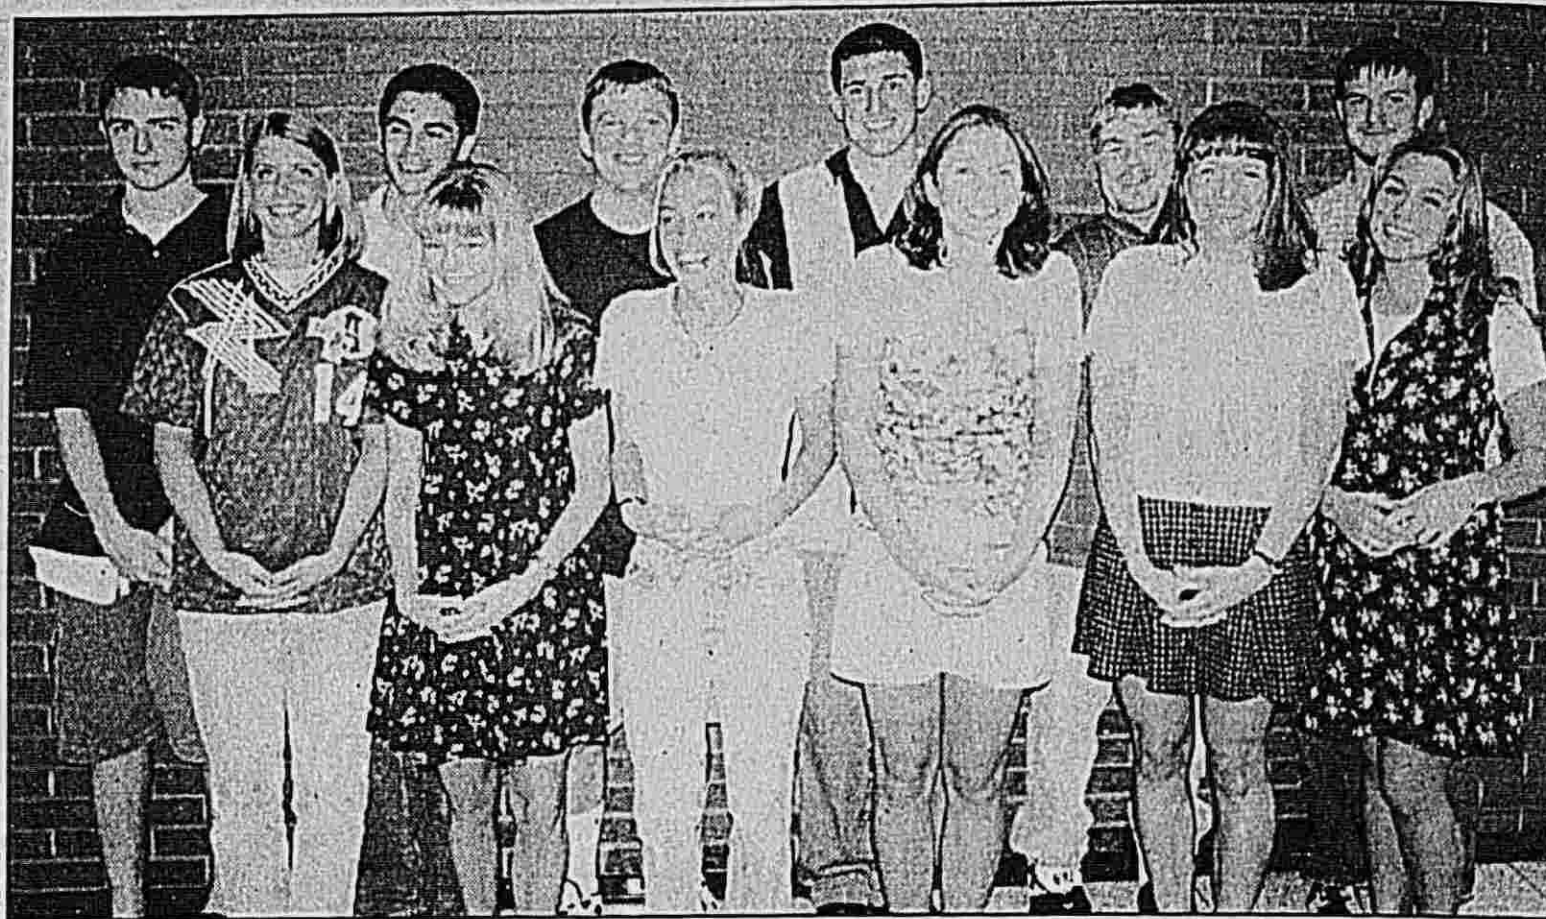

"A lot of times it gives kids a chance to meet police out of their uniforms and socialize with us on a person-to-person level," he said.

"It is another opportunity to do something other than just hang out."

Activities also respond to community concerns. One of the reasons why adults drive skate board enthusiasts to other locations, said McCameron, is because of a concern about insurance liability issues.

Group outings through COURAGE permit skateboarders to gain access to sites that may otherwise be closed to them.

For information call 356-6788.

Condell wants to come to Lake Villa

ALEC JUNGE
Staff Reporter

Condell Medical Center officials say they want to come to Lake Villa, because they serve many patients who reside in the area.

"Lake Villa Township is one of our top six zip codes," said Ina Albert, public relations director for Condell.

Condell wants to construct a 15,000-square-foot facility on a 2-acre parcel, on the southwest corner of Rte. 83 and Grand Ave., for primary care physicians and specialists. There would be seven physicians in the building.

Officials are hopeful to have the building open in early 1998, according to Joe Brueck, architect from Klauens & Associates.

He added it is hoped most of the building will be completed by the end of this year.

"Lake Villa has always been in our primary service area," Albert said.

She noted the growth of the area also was a big influence in the decision to construct a facility.

The population in Lake Villa Township jumped from 20,700 to 24,300 from 1990 to 1996. Lake Villa's population rose 42 percent during the same time period. Officials expect another 28 percent growth in population by the year 2000.

"It's exponential," Albert said of the spiraling growth of the area.

She said the proposed facility goes hand-in-hand with Condell's primary mission.

"Our primary mission is to serve residents of Lake County. We want to bring services as close to them as possible," Albert said.

The building would mean the elimination of one of the village's most noticeable eyesores. An old diner and a former real estate office, which have been vacant buildings.

"It will enhance the image of that corner as we had two very unsightly buildings which will be removed," said Mayor Frank Loffredo.

"It will be landscaped and manicured, adding to the center of our community; it will give a better image of what Lake Villa is all about," he said.

"It will be a wonderful addition to the town," Albert said.

She added aesthetics were taken into account as all of the trees on the site will be preserved and the building will be heavily landscaped.

Condell is one of three major businesses which have come forward this year interested in putting a facility at the intersection of Route 83 and 132. Burger King and McDonald's also have plans for restaurants at this intersection.

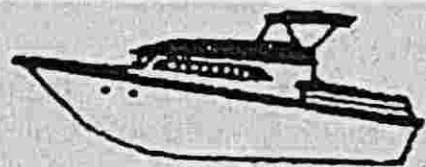

Loffredo noted officials hope this signals other businesses that Lake Villa is a good place take their commercial ventures.

He added the services that will be provided seem to fit changes in the community.

"The services provided are a good match for the changing demographics of the village," Loffredo said.

The accident occurred at Route 173 and Route 59 on May 5 at 10:39 p.m. The DUI Test Kit for Blood was used at Woodstock Memorial Hospital. She is to appear in court on May 20 in Waukegan.

Traffic stop, DUI

Antioch police charged Mouty E. Grasswick, 38, of Antioch with exceeding the 30 mph speed rate on north bound Route 83 just south of Park Terrace in a 1989 Pontiac on May 3. He refused an offer to take a breathalyzer test. Grasswick posted $300 cash bond. He is to appear in court May 20 in Waukegan.

DUI, battery, resisting arrest

Antioch police charged Michael J. Vanderzee, 47, of Silver Lake, Wis., with driving under the influence, battery, and resisting arrest on April 28 at 4:38 a.m. on west bound Route 173 east of Route 83 in a 1996 Dodge pickup truck. He refused an offer to take a breathalyzer test. He was placed under arrest and no bond was posted.

Disorderly conduct

Antioch police charged Robert A. Brundage, 24, Antioch, with disorderly conduct for an incident at the Taco Bell dining area on Route 173 on May 3 at 3 p.m. He was booked and released on bond sheet. He will appear in court June 11 in Grayslake. Police responded to a complaint that Brundage was allegedly threatening a juvenile, 16. Brundage was in a martial arts fighting stance with clenched fists at the restaurant. He is reported to have challenged the juvenile with the statement "You want to start something, you want some of this?" This was allegedly a repeat of ten similar incidents in the past three months. After a discussion with Antioch police officers, Brundage agreed to avoid contact with the juvenile.

Traffic altercation

Antioch police department charged John J. Gilbert, 25, Antioch, with a traffic altercation and disorderly conduct for a April 29 incident at 11:21 p.m. near the intersection of Cedarwood and Hickory in the Oakwood Knolls subdivision. Gilbert was released on bond pending a May 28 court date in Grayslake. Gilbert was allegedly upset that an automobile drove past his home at what he considered a high rate of speed. A bottle and obscenities were allegedly thrown by him at the departing vehicle.

Lake Villa Possession of explosives

Daniel B. Bieneman, 18, Palatine, on April 29, was arrested for possession of explosives. Bieneman was stopped for driving with an expired sticker. A search of the trunk revealed two 1/4 sticks of dynamite, bottle rockets and fire crackers.

Lindenhurst

Arrested for cable theft

Richard Hayes, 33, 1708 Cherrywood, Lindenhurst, on May 2, was arrested for theft of cable service. U S Cable informed police cable was being received illegally after the service was cut off 2-16-96. Hayes denied receiving cable and was arrested.

Police use K-9 unit to sniff out peeping Tom

Police were unable to find a man who allegedly "peeped" into the bedroom window of a 13-year-old girl and said he wanted to perform a sex act on her, police said.

The incident occurred at 1:30 a.m. April 26, on the 600 block of Sheridan Road, when the girl and her three 13-year-old friends, two from Wauconda and one from Island Lake, were getting ready to go to sleep when they heard a voice from outside the window, reports said.

The girls looked through the window and saw a man standing outside, who said he wanted to perform a sex act on them, police said.

The girls went to wake the host's father, who went outside to find a white plastic chair underneath the girl's bedroom window, but no man.

A K-9 unit from the Lake County Sheriff's Department picked up a scent and found it ended on the 1000 block of Washington Street, but the girls said they noticed the chair was outside the home across the street

Beach police conduct safety check at May 9 road block

Round Lake Beach Police Department announced its Pre-Holiday Traffic Safety Campaign.

In an effort to prevent injury from accidents and to promote safety for its children and its citizens, the Round Lake Beach Police Department has obtained several traffic grants from the Illinois Department of Transportation (IDOT). These grants will fund two separate traffic safety programs in the community.

In addition to these two grants, Round Lake Beach police will be conducting a Roadside Traffic Safety check. This check will be conducted in conjunction with the Illinois State Police on May 9, from 9 p.m.-3 a.m.

The location of the roadblock will be on Route 83, south of Rollins Road in the Avon School parking lot.

From May 5 to 16, an IDOT grant will allow officers time to monitor school bus stop arm and school zone speeding violations. Two Round Lake Beach officers will be assigned four hours each day to patrol school bus routes and enforce school speed limits.

From May 18 to 20 is a Traffic Image Grant. This grant focuses on traffic enforcement on Rollins Road and concentrates on two troublesome intersections, Rollins and Hainesville roads and Rollins and Route 83.

Officers will be focusing on vehicles stopping in designated "no stopping" areas and vehicles making right turns on red lights where it is prohibited.

The men and women of Round Lake Beach Police Department urge their citizens and visitors to drive carefully and obey all traffic laws, and help them make their streets safer.

New Jaycees president wants more members, events

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Jaycees elected Greg Benyak as their new president. Benyak expects to work to continue membership expansion.

"My goal as president is to have an average of one event per month," said Benyak. "We're always looking for different things to do."

Also elected at the April meeting: Joel Johnson, community development vice-president; Clare Eng, community development director; Teri Chipman, treasurer; Donna Bergl, secretary; Brian Stoddard, individual development vice-president; Jennifer Wise, individual development director; and, Bill Mirowski, management and membership.

The Jaycees are currently planning their annual recruitment effort, a Fun-in-the-Sun Party, that provides a chance for lots of people to get together and learn about the organization.

During the past two years, membership has doubled.

"The more people we have, the more things we can do," said Benyak. Brian Stoddard described the upcoming event as one to "build awareness of our organization."

Monthly events the Jaycees have been

Benyak: Growth-oriented president responsible for in the past include the haunted Tunnel of Terror at Halloween, collection and distribution of holiday gifts at Christmas, and Santa Claus telephone calls to children.

Jaycees will meet May 19 at the Antioch Best Western Motel at 7:30 p.m. The meeting date was changed since the Memorial Day holiday falls on the regular meeting day, the last Monday of the month.

Summer physical science project for teachers to begin in June "Hands-on Physical Science Demonstrations for Teachers," a professional development program for Lake county science teachers, will begin June 24 at the College of Lake County. The four week program, funded by a $30,000 Dwight D. Eisenhower Grant from the Illinois Board of Higher Education, will introduce fifth through tenth grade teachers to more than 150 physics demonstrations they can use in their classrooms to stimulate student interest in science.

The project will be directed by CLC physics instructor Toby Ward, who has offered this program for the last four years to more than 100 teachers. Participants will receive three hours of graduate credit through Aurora University and a stipend of $15 per session. Classes will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from June 24 to July 17. Admission is free.

Interested teachers may call Toby Ward at 543-2490.

75 Years Strong!

We sell Life, too!

Mom always serves us the leftover French fries

Is it now possible that all over the country from California to New York, from North Dakota to Florida there is a new craze taking over called "Teenie Weenie Beanie Baby Swaps?" This is where groups of crazed Beanie Baby fans swarm together and trade and barter for much needed little animals stuffed with plastic beans.

People, people, let's get a grip on ourselves here. As if the Teenie Weenie Beanie Baby frenzy that descend upon this nation several weeks ago wasn't bad enough—they have actually found a way to prolong the madness.

With the whole country in a turmoil to get a completed set of those little critters, Russia really blew their chance of becoming the world leader during that first weekend the craze hit the states. If they had been smart and on top of the matter, they could have blown the entire continent of North America off the map while the entire nation was scurrying from McDonald's to McDonald's. Granted they would have had to act within a 72 hour window, but they certainly could have taken great advantage of a very large, but vulnerable U.S. of A. Word is out of Washington, D.C., that even President Bubba was scene jogging away from the local Mickey D's toting a Happy Meal bag containing a critter for daughter Chelsea.

I suspect that the guru's at McDonald's and Hallmark put their heads together on this latest, most fool-proof marketing technique to sell their products. Mothers nationwide were forced to prove their usefulness, their dedication and their ability to maneuver throughout the county in search for that missing Teenie Weenie Beanie Baby needed to complete the series.

And, of course, the pressure was on to perform this task before the approaching Mother's Day date, after all what child is going to spend their hard earned paper route money on a Hallmark card for dear old mom? The one who owns a complete set of Teenie Weenie Beanie Babies, or the child who sits one Baby short of a set?

JINGLE FROM PRINGLE

So, now that almost every household in the county is privileged to have those cute little stuffed critters sitting on a shelf in some distinguished place, what, oh what do we do with those freezers that are jammed full of had-to-purchase-to-get-the critters burgers, nuggets and fries. Folks frozen burgers are somewhat edible through the invention of the microwave. Chicken nuggets, once they are warmed-over are only for the strong-stomached. And French fries, well, there is no good way to reheat them little sticks and have them even closely resemble what they are suppose to taste like—even drenched in ketchup.

So, to any moms who may have been promised a gourmet dinner for Mother's Day, created solely by your adoring children and your-lacking-in-the-kitchen-skills husband, a word of warning: As you relax in your favorite chair, surrounded by those complete sets of Beanie Baby's, anticipating your upcoming feast, with sounds of rustling paper emitting from the kitchen, beware of what those clever little chef's may be unwrapping and microwaving for your dinner. Bon Appetit and Happy Mother's Day.

Readers with information for "Jingle from Pringle" should call Lynn Pringle at 395-6364.

Seniors breathe a little easier thanks to Master Song

The Song Martial Arts Center offers training in Tai Chi breathing exercises for Senior Citizens every Tuesday at 2 p.m. The classes are taught by black belt Master Song. He is assisted by Master Kim.

"Every Tuesday at 2 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. we have a Tai Chi Breathing Class at Song Martial Arts Center," said Paul Howard, Antioch Senior Center Coordinator. "It's a really healthy workout," he said. The only requirement is that you be able to stand.

Howard said a group of Senior Citizens have been going over to the Song Center for the past five or six weeks. The group includes four men and 12 women. Master Song volunteered to conduct these classes for the Senior Center.

Howard noted the martial arts center is a "gorgeous facility, spacious, clean, and nicely decorated. It contributes to the experience."

Howard expressed surprise at the quality of the learning experience. "He basically showed me how to breathe. And, I can tell the difference. My stomach is stronger and my lung capacity has increased after only five weeks."

The Antioch Senior Center is located at 817 Holbeck Drive, just north of the fire and rescue squad building. Howard can be reached at the center at 395-9806.

Natural Resources Dept. to host director's Muskie Tournament

The Illinois Dept. of Natural Resources has scheduled its Director's Muskie Tournaments for May 31 and June 1 at Fox Chain O'Lakes and Oct. 4 and 5 at Lake Shelbyville. Proceeds from both events will be donated to the Illinois Conservation Foundation to improve muskie and walleye fishing throughout the state and to support youth hunting and fishing events.

"This will be first year for the tournament to be held at Fox Chain O'Lakes and the second year for Lake Shelbyville," said DNR Director Brent Manning. "I am very pleased to serve as host for both events and invite anglers to join me for some great fishing. All proceeds benefit a worthwhile cause."

The Chain O'Lakes event will kick off with a pre-tournament meeting, social hour and free food on Friday, May 30 at 4 p.m. at the VFW Post 4551, 75 North Ave., Antioch.

Eagle Creek Resort at Shelbyville will be the site of the post-tournament meeting, registration and meal starting at 4 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 3. Fishing competition at both locations begins at 7 a.m. on Saturday morning, Oct. 4 and concludes at noon on Sunday, Oct. 5.

Prizes for both tournaments will be $1,000 for first place, $500 for second place and $250 for third place. Ranger Boats will award $300 for the longest fish caught at each event.

To enter, there is a $60 tournament fee for each boat (two fishermen per boat). Those signing up for both tournaments will be charged a total of $100, which reflects a $20 savings. (If for some reason one fisherman cannot fish both tournaments, substitution is permissible.)

Additional information about the Chain O'Lakes event can be obtained by contacting Nick Herbstrith at 294-4127. For Lake Shelbyville tournament information, contact Gary Watson, (217) 782-9990. Entry forms are available from the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Education, Public Events and Promotions, 524 S. Second St., Springfield, Ill. 62701, phone (217) 785-8955.

The Illinois Conservation Foundation is an IRS approved 501 (c) 3 not-for-profit organization that enhances, through external funding, the goals and programs of the Dept. of Natural Resources.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Thank you Antioch

As another year comes to end for the Antioch Junior Woman's Club, we would like to take this opportunity to thank the community of Antioch for all of their continued support.

We offer our time and service to many activities throughout the year.

This year we were very proud to offer a few new projects. We started out our Club year in September helping with a very successful Bone Marrow Drive, which was spearheaded by Ted and Vickie Axton. In October we were able to offer a first every babysitting clinic to our community. It could not have been so successful without the help of Bob Johnson of the Antioch Fire Dept., Diana Horton of the Antioch Rescue Squad and Sgt. Jim Foerster of the Antioch Police Dept. We would like to thank the Antioch Fire Dept. for opening their station so we can hold our clinic there. We hope to offer this two time a year.

The community once again showed their continued support with our annual Christmas PADS Backpack Project. In March we celebrated our 10th Anniversary of Community Services by hosting a first of many "Comedy Nights." It was so successful that we have chosen March 7, 1998 for our second "Comedy Night" so mark your calendars for a great time. This year we are very proud to be sending two young burn survivors to Burn Camp.

We will be working at the summer events held here in Antioch. On June 29, we will be helping with the third annual Firemen's Pancake Breakfast held at the Fire Station. On July 4th we will have a pop booth during the Independence Day Celebration. On Aug. 3, we will be helping with the Annual Lion's Club Barbecue and the Antioch Rescue Squads Treasure Booth during the Auction.

As president, I would like to thank all of our Club Members for their continued support. I truly appreciate it. I am very proud to be a member of such a great Club.

Thank you Antioch.

True Value provides True Help to Red Cross

Antioch True Value announced that the "True Help" Sale of late March and early April produced over $350,000 in donations to the American Red Cross. The donation from Antioch alone was over $2,500. The donation amount was determined by the sales of various items in the True Value True Help. Sale flyer. More than 7.5 million of these sale flyers were distributed nationwide.

"One of the assets of True Value is its solid, community oriented service," says Red Cross president Elizabeth Dole. "By combining the True Value name with the American Red cross, we have created a partnership that translates the caring and concern of the public into immediate action."

"We have always been a caring presence in our community," says Stan Livermore of Antioch True Value. "This program was a natural for us, and we are proud of our contribution to the project."

It seemed to me that although America has the best doctors and the best technology in the world, we've been getting less care.

Until I went to Victory.

Personal care—the Victory difference.

Victory Memorial Hospital cares for people—not just medically, but in ways that help them feel secure and valued.

For example, our Patient-Focused Care approach is designed to keep our professional caregivers close to you. Our teams of Registered Nurses and Skilled Care Technicians are dedicated to meeting your nursing and medical needs while caring for you with a friendly smile and a compassionate ear.

When you want to feel nurtured and cared for in the most professional manner and you want to be treated like a person rather than a room number—

Choose Victory. You'll recognize the difference.

Sports runs deep in my family

Welcome to the inaugural edition of my new weekly sports column. As sports editor of Lakeland Newspapers since March 31, I will offer my personal insights to some key sporting events and issues that strike me as relevant, important or just plain interesting.

This column will bring up local sports issues and briefs that may have been overlooked otherwise. Topics will vary from local controversy to little league announcements and anything in between.

Also, since I'm new to the area, I feel I should introduce myself.

I moved a lot when I was growing up—not because my father was in the military, but he was given opportunities in different cities and took them.

I was born in New York City; raised in Oklahoma, Utah and southern California; attended high school outside of Dallas, Texas; and graduated from Marquette University in Milwaukee—where I still live.

Although I now live in Milwaukee and used to live in Dallas, I am not a Packer fan or a Cowboy fan. The Bears? Maybe if they can win as many games as the Bulls lose.

I have a strong heritage of sports in my family: my grandfather was a two-sports letterman at Notre Dame, in football and baseball and was a "legendary" high school basketball coach in Albany, N.Y.; my father lettered in baseball and basketball at ND. Growing up, I played every sport I could get my hands onto, but concentrated on football and basketball in high school.

As sports editor at Lakeland Newspapers, I will be implementing new ideas to enhance our sports coverage.

First, obviously, is this regular column. It will mostly be written by me, but I will gladly step aside for guest writers such as local coaches and student-athletes.

Second, we will be running a "Prep Athletes of the Week" piece, which will feature one boy and one girl who each had a special performance in the previous week's play.

Third, we will run a weekly feature called "Sidelines" which will profile a local person who is active in the sports scene but does not get a lot of press.

Fourth, here at Lakeland we will begin our All-Lakeland teams and individuals, which will be compiled at the end of each season and will be our version of a local all-star team. The All-Lakeland teams will be compiled for baseball, softball, boys and girls track, boys and girls basketball and football.

And finally, I will be looking to add more feature stories to our sports coverage. Many people are involved in great activities that quietly support the local sports scene, and it's about time they got more ink in our newspapers.

Well, that is what we are doing to maintain and improve our sports coverage, and I am open to any and all suggestions for a story, feature, column, prep of the week, profile, etc., that you, our readers, may have.

Mike Cenni rescues Lancers with game-winning homer

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

One Zion neighborhood was a little happier than the others Sunday.

Given up for baseball dead, College of Lake County scored four runs after two outs, two strikes in the second game of the NJCAA Division II tournament. The Lancers outlasted Kishwaukee 12-11 in 11 innings for their 42d win and more importantly, were 42-9 and alive in the tourney on Monday.

The heroes, Bill Duncan and Mike Cenni reside on the same street in Zion and have been on the same team since grade school.

Cenni cranked a pitch up in the jet stream to right field for the game winning homer. He was mobbed by teammates who realized their season was not over by the time he got to home plate.

"I was just trying to hit a double to give Cory (Clark) a chance to hit me in," said Cenni.

In the 11th, CLC found itself trailing 11-8 before Duncan stepped to the plate with the bases loaded. Duncan's fourth hit of the game went to the right-field wall for a base-clearing, game-tying triple, much to the delight of the CLC partisans. Eric Villarreal had a chance to win it, but the Kishwaukee shortstop leaped to snare his line drive.

"A lot of us are sophomores and we don't have places lined up to play next year. We realized this may be our last game," said Cenni.

"I was looking for a fastball. I have been playing baseball with Mike since we were seven years old. We live across the street from one another," said Duncan, the CLC first baseman.

Duncan said there were a couple of offers for college ball after Zion-Benton High but chose CLC due to its baseball program. He was hitting .336 before the tournament.

"This is our most dramatic post-season win ever," said CLC coach Gene Hanson. "What a clutch hit. Mike did not have much pressure on him as Billy did, though."

The Lancers' pitchers had a long day at their own field. Kankakee had trounced CLC 11-4 in the first game. The second game was a do-or-die situation. The Lancers rallied from 5-3 and 8-5 deficits before the dramatic 10th and 11th innings. Joel Dangel increased his record to 8-1 in a relief win.

Mike Niemczyk of Round Lake also earned the status of Mr. Clutch earlier. It was his two-run triple in the seventh inning which brought CLC to an 8-7 deficit. Dave Griffin's sacrifice fly tied the game.

Kishwaukee took an 11-8 lead on a three-run homer with one out in the 10th inning.

CLC's half of the inning started with walks to Cenni and Cory Clark against different pitchers. LeVar Dillard's second hit of the game loaded the bases.

Kevin Eckenstahler struck out, but the Zion connection made believers out of Yogi Berra's famous "it's not over until it's over" approach.

"It did not matter which pitcher was out there, the batters were looking for a pitch in the strike zone," said Hanson.

And Cenni found one, sending it 370 game-winning feet.

Antioch girls sweep Patriots, play for 2nd-place in tourney

Dodging raindrops and battling for a chance to play for second place, the Antioch girls softball team rallied to extend their season one more game.

ACHS, 13-8 overall, was down to its last out before a five-run seventh inning earned a 12-11 win at Stevenson May 1. The Sequoits then went to the second-place game with a 2-1 record at the Buffalo Grove tournament.

"Stevenson came out swinging with a five-run first, but we did not give up," said ACHS coach Steve Wapon.

Nicole Langley started the seventh inning with a single, while Jocelyn McRae walked and Stephanie Haenchen was safe on a fielder's choice. April Pederson walked.

Sarah Rockow had a big three-run triple. She also scored three runs and had two singles.

Jamie Silarski had a 4-4 day including a game tying single. Linda DiSalvo completed the rally and a 2-3 day with a single.

"DiSalvo's bat is starting to come alive," said Wapon.

Also contributing to the offense: second baseman Linda Deutsch was 2-4 with a triple, a run and two RBIs.

Deutsch had three assists, center fielder Langley had four putouts. Kristin Lynch turned in a good game at shortstop.

The win completed a sweep of Stevenson, whom Antioch downed 11-1 two days earlier. A seven-run fourth inning keyed the offense. Rockow had two singles two RBIs and scored two runs. DiSalvo had a single and RBI; Scopel had a single as did Angie Pederson.

Silarski improved her record on the mound to 7-4.

ACHS lost to Glenbard North 0-2. Rockow had two singles and scored two runs; Pederson had two singles and an RBI.

Kristen Scopel improved her record on the mound in a 3-0 win over Loyola. She fanned seven in a four-hitter.

Shannah Jaburek had a single on a bunt and scored a run. Langley had two singles. Scopel had two hits and two RBIs. Pederson was 1-2 with an RBI.

Silarski went the distance in a 7-2 win over Highland Park. She scattered six hits.

Jaburek had a single and a run, Langley three singles and a run and Scopel two singles and three runs. Melissa Bock was 1-3 with two runs scored.

For Rockow, another good game at the plate with two runs scored on two extra-base hits.

The Sequoits face Buffalo Grove May 9 at 8:30 a.m. for second-place.

Eagle Watch Hole-in-one at Renwood

Don Miske of Antioch shot a hole-in-one Sunday, April 27 at Renwood Country Club in Round Lake Beach. Miske used a 7-iron on the par three 135-yard 10th hole. At age 39, it was Miske's first hole-in-one.

Grant star signs with UW-Parkside

Michelle Tennyson, a 5-10 senior at Grant High School, signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the University of Wisconsin-Parkside.

Tennyson was an All-Conference and All-Conference-Academic athlete for Grant during her sophomore, junior and senior seasons. Also, Tennyson was a finalist for the Wendy Heisman award.

Tennyson averaged 13 points (conference leader), 8.5 rebounds, 2 assists and 1.8 steals per game for the Bulldogs in her senior season.

UW-Parkside is a member of the great Lakes Valley Conference and competes at the Division II level of NCAA athletics.

Antioch netters dominate doubles

Antioch won its second match in a week as the Sequoits bested Mundelein 4-1 in the North Suburban Conference battle.

Antioch won all three doubles slots and split the singles battles in the April 29 clash.

Steve Hovey lost to David Nellans at first singles 6-1, 6-3.

"Steve played a strong game trying to mix it up from the baseline and then charging to the net," said ACHS coach Bryan Plinske.

J.J. Edwards dominated his second singles foe, Brian Wischnia 6-1, 6-1.

"J.J. played his usual game of power and speed. J.J. found his angle shot again. J.J. has the ability to make those tight angle shots that have some speed behind them," said Plinske.

Erik Lipps and Steve Drengrer downed Don Oliphant and Reed Konnerth 6-0, 6-3 at number one doubles.

"The key to this match was hard ground strokes at their opponents' feet. This is one of the toughest shots to return and Erik and Steve used it to their advantage," said Plinske.

Kevin Chudd and Chris Phillips advanced to 7-2 on the season with a win at number two doubles. They downed Marc Harrington and Justin Fier 6-1, 6-0.

"It seemed as if the deciding factor in this match was overheads. In one game alone, Chris put away four short lobs," said Plinske.

At number three doubles, Andrew Dorhmann and Kevin Ward held off the Mustangs Joe Zukowski and Jeff Lorel 6-4, 7-6 (7-3).

"Mundelein was making a serious run at the end to force it into a third set but Kevin and Andrew buckled down and got the job done," said Plinske.

Stevenson rally downs ACHS

Antioch baseball coach Paul Petty has seen it happen in battles with Stevenson in the past.

Open a door to a comeback and the Patriots don't hesitate to walk through. Such was the case in a 7-6 Stevenson come-from-behind win over Antioch May 1.

"They strung some hits together with some base hits and we had a miscue in the outfield," said Petty.

ACHS used some hitting fundamentals to score five runs in the sixth inning for a 6-5 lead and please the home crowd.

"We were not hitting the third, fourth and fifth innings. I told the players that we are a better hitting team when we go for the outer third of the plate and take it to the right side. We were disciplined at the plate," said Petty.

Brett McCullum gave up 11 hits and two walks as his pitching record slipped to 3-4.

The Sequoits battle Mundelein at home May 8 in the second of a home-and-away series. Lake Forest visits one week later than originally scheduled, May 10.

Hastings Lake YMCA to get greener thanks to Bushman builders

Buschman Homes is donating several trees to the Hastings Lake YMCA camp and sponsoring a tree planting day.

Boy Scout Troop 73 will take part in the ceremony which is slated for 8 a.m., May 10. Mark Buschman said the scouts will help plant the trees.

A total of 12 8-foot locust, maple and ash trees will be planted at the YMCA tree farm.

The scouts will learn all about trees, how they are planted, fertilized and cared for. Also discussed will be the importance of trees and the value of trees in our lives.

"Trees help keep oxygen for the air we breathe," Buschman said.

He added scouts will learn how trees are a renewable resource, useful to business as well.

"Trees grow and are harvested. They are used to make several items for business," Buschman said.

He added the land, once it is harvested, is replanted with trees and the process begins again.

The company also has donated

1,000 white and Austrian pine seedlings to the YMCA tree farm.

Some of the these trees will be preserved, while others will eventually grow tall enough to be used as Christmas trees.

Buschman is on the board of directors at Hastings Lake YMCA.

After a run through the woods at Libertyville's dog training site, there's nothing better than a refreshing dip in a forest preserve lake. After cooling off, Timber, a Malamute, finds a bouncy toy on the shoreline. The forest preserve plans to build two more dog play areas. —Photos by Claudia M. Lenart

'It's like Disneyland for dogs'

Pooch Paradise

Dogs get excited about playtime in a forest preserve site designed especially for canines

By CLAUDIA M. LENART
Regional Editor

Rover's been sleeping all day while his roommates were at work. When they came home, he grabbed a bite to eat, and enjoyed a brief petting session.

And now... it's PLAYTIME!

"Please take me for a walk in the park," he implores with his eyes and a whine.

"Let's play Frisbee," as he drops his favorite toy into his person's lap.

"How about tag," as he madly runs from one end of the house to the other, leaving throw rugs in disarray.

For many Lake County dogs, small yards and leash laws tend to get in the way of all the fun. But some dogs, with the help of their owners, have discovered a recreational center with all the amenities an active dog desires.

At the Lake County Forest Preserves dog training site, off Rte. 21, south of Casey Road in Libertyville, there are more than 30 acres of open fields, hills, woods, a lake for swimming and lots of other pooches to make play time complete. And the best part is — no leashes are required.

"It's like Disneyland for dogs,"

Socialization, above, is a favorite activity for visitors to the dog training site. Timber gets to know Buddy, a greyhound, and Zeljka, a Rottweiler. Relaxing, in the background, is Zeljka's owner, Kim Uhler. Right, Phoebe, a Siberian Husky, is always ready for fun and games as she tries to get her owner, Darrell Outlaw, to join in the activity.

said Annie Kane of Grayslake, who regularly visits with Amber, a Doberman Pinscher, and her 1-year-old son, Phillip. "It makes her much easier to deal with at night time if I bring her here during the afternoon."

Visitors to the dog training site agree their canine companions tend to relax and curl up for the evening, after a visit to the site.

Kristen Hedling, of Buffalo Grove, recently discovered the site and started bringing her 6-month-old Chesapeake Bay Retriever. "It's like preschool for dogs. It gives them a chance to socialize. They get used to new dogs, kids and strangers."

The dog owners also tend to socialize at the dog site, more than at other forest preserves. They trade dog stories and training tips as they watch the dogs play together.

"You see the same people and get to know them," said Darrell Outlaw, of Round Lake Beach, who visits with his 6-month-old Siberian Husky, Phoebe. "Everybody is so glad they can take their dogs here."

KIDS FARE

Children's museum offers first sing along

Kohl Children's Museum, 165 Green Bay Rd., Wilmette invites single parents and their families to sing and shout and Karaoke all about at the Singles Mingle Evening, a unique after-hours event, Friday, May 16 from 6 to 8 p.m.

This event has been planned specifically for single parents and their children to come together for an evening of musical entertainment, as well as experience all of the exciting hands-on exhibits normally available during the day. Also, meet and network with other single parents throughout the evening; don't forget to bring your own picnic dinner!

Cost for this special program is $10 per member family; $15 per non-member family. Advance registration is recommended. Call 256-6056 for information.

The Kohl Children's Museum invites parents to an interactive workshop entitled "What Color is Your Brain?" to be held from 7:30 to 9 p.m., Tuesday, May 21.

Join professional speaker and local author, Sheila Glazov as she uses her family fairy tale "Princess Shayna's Invisible Visible Gift" to help parents understand how they make decisions and relate to the world around them.

Glazov will discuss her ideas and offer tips to parents on enhancing their child's self-esteem, building dynamic family teamwork, improving parenting communications skills and how to better understand themselves and family members.

Linda Brakeal, president of Phoenix Seminars and an active parenting trainer states, "Sheila Glazov's broad-based knowledge of education, philosophy, creativity, and creative problem solving combine beautifully to produce an enriching story for the whole family to read together. Children will experience an enchanting fairy tale; and parents will find healthy role models."

Copies of "Princess Shayna's Invisible Visible Gift" will be available for purchase with a portion of the book's profit donated to diabetes research and education. The cost of the evening is $5 per adult member and $6 per non-member. Advance registration is recommended due to limited seating. Call 256-6056 for more information.

Other events offered at Kohl Children's Museum during May are: Cinco de Mayo celebration, at 1 p.m., Saturday, May 10. Listen to mariachi music and enjoy a sample of traditional Mexican cuisine.

Mother's Day celebration from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Sunday, May 11. Make a hand-made foot massager and pencil holder as a gift to celebrate the best woman in your life.

Dinosaur Bob, Kohl Children's Museum very own mascot, will be stomping around the museum from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 20 through, Sunday, May 25.

Daily museum activities are scheduled at 11 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Admission is $4 per person; seniors are $3; children under 1 are free.

For information on other activities throughout the month, call 256-6056.

Dinosaur families

The Field Museum, located on Roosevelt Road at Lake Shore Drive, Chicago is offering weekend dinosaur activities.

On Saturday, May 24, and Sunday, May 25, from noon to 2 p.m. "Dinosaur Families: Heirlooms and Hoopla." A musical theater performance teaches the basics of paleontology by involving children in the action. While cleaning Mrs. T's attic, Josh and Gina learn how evidence from the past tells the story of lifestyles, human and dinosaur.

Outdoor Dino Dig will take place from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., May 24 and 25. Discover a dinosaur at The Field Museum in the exciting new outdoor, interactive center which simulates a real dinosaur excavation site. This enormous tent will house a variety of dinosaur/fossil activities designed for all age groups. Activities will include excavating a replica of a Allosaurus, searching for and identifying fossils, and exploring how fossils are made.

Egg incubator: Watch baby chicks hatch and find out how dinosaur babies also hatched from eggs. Dinosaur bone prep lab: From 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., May 24 and 25. Watch as rare dinosaur fossils from Madagascar are removed from the rock in which they are embedded.

Dinosaur mask making: See how you look as a Maiasaurus, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., May 24 and 25.

Dinosaur mural: Learn about the trees and plants of the Cretaceous period and take part in creating a dinosaur mural, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., May 24 and 25.

Draw a Dino: A sidewalk chalk activity, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., May 24 and 25.

Trapped in Amber: Field Museum scientists let you get a close-up look at the museum's amber collection on insects, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Bird or dinosaur: From 1 to 3 p.m., Dr. Chris McGowan of the Royal Ontario Museum demonstrates how chicken bones can be used to build dinosaur skeletons.

On Sunday, May 25, make your own dinosaur out of chicken bones: Chris McGowan, PhD, curator in the Dept. of Paleobiology at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto, will visit the museum for a lecture at 2 p.m. featuring his recently published book.

Dr. McGowan, and others in the field of paleontology, believe birds evolved from dinosaurs, therefore the skeleton of a bird shares similar features with dinosaurs. The cost is $12. For further information, on museum activities, call (312)322-8859.

All about kids

Lambs Farm has always been the perfect place for kids, but now they have devoted an entire weekend to kids. It's WPNT's fourth annual "All About Kids" Day at Lambs Farm, May 31 and June 1 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. Enjoy a weekend full of fun with live music, games, entertainment, interactive and educational displays and food, all just for kids.

General admission and parking are free.

Interactive and educational display! Micro-Reality Stock Car Races, the Libertyville Fire Safety House, Metra's Operation Life Saver, the Des Plaines Police Dept. Mobile Education Unit, Kids Count Entertainment interactive computer games, and the Illinois Dept. of Conservation and Fisheries fishing demonstrations on Lambs Lake.

Children's Stage Entertainment! Watch Dave Herzog's Marionettes show, Platypus Theatre songs and stories for children and their families, and the JoJo and Kiwi clown and magic act. Children's stage performances run from 11:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day.

Special appearance by Bozo, from WGN-TV's The Bozo Super Sunday Show, on Sunday from 11 a.m. to noon.

Fun games, Velcro Obstacle Course, Moonwalk, Inflatable Caterpillar Maze and Games Galore, all just for $1 each.

Great food and refreshments including hot dogs, hamburgers, bratwurst, pizza and more. No picnic baskets or coolers, please. Revenue from the sale of concessions benefits Lambs Farm, a non-profit community which provides vocational, residential and social service programs for adults with mental disabilities.

Lambs Farm regular children's attractions including the farmyard, petting zoo, miniature golf, train ride, carousel ride, pontoon boat ride and pony rides will be available.

Lambs Farm is located on Rte. 176 (Rockland Road) at I-94. For information, call 362-6774.

Famous Sports Figures

Sports can be fun and educational for youngsters. Not only do they get the exercise their growing bodies need, but they also develop a sense of teamwork and enhance their muscle coordination. Many children are inspired to do well in sports by the successes of their favorite athletes. Following are just a few famous sports figures who are spurring children on to greatness:

WAYNE GRETZKY

A hockey player, Gretzky has played on the Edmonton Oilers and Los Angeles Kings and now plays for the New York Rangers. In the 1981-82 season, he set single-season National Hockey League marks for goals scored (92), assists (120) and points (212), becoming the first player to achieve more than 200 points. He set a new single-season assists record (135) in 1984-85. He has been NHL scoring champion and most valuable player nine times in his career.

STEFFI GRAF

Graf won her first major tennis title, the French Open, in 1987. In 1988, she captured the Grand Slam by winning the Australian Open, French Open, U.S. Open and Wimbledon, as well as the gold medal in the Olympics. She subsequently has won the Australian, U.S. and French Opens at least once each and Wimbledon at least four times. She earned a silver medal in the 1992 Olympics.

MICHAEL JORDAN

A basketball player, Jordan joined the Chicago Bulls in 1984. With his talent, he became the premier guard of the late 1980s and early 1990s. Jordan was the National Basketball Association's leading scorer for seven straight years (1987-93) and made a career record for scoring average (32.3 points per game). He was the NBA's most valuable player three times and led the Bulls to NBA championships in 1991, 1992 and 1993.

JACKIE JOYNER-KERSEE

Joyner-Kersee is a world-famous track-and-field athlete. She won the silver medal in the heptathlon in the 1984 Olympics and the gold medal in this event in the 1988 and 1992 Olympics.

For ticket information, call 991-5990.

'Godspell' auditions

Phoenix Rising Production is holding open auditions for the musical "Godspell" from 7:30 to 10 p.m., May 16 and 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., May 17 at Antioch Community High School auditorium. Show dates will be July 18, 19, 20, 25, 26, and 17. Those who intend to audition should prepare one upbeat and one ballad song of their choice, plus be prepared to perform a dance combination. For further information, call the director, Jarod Howard, at 265-8736 or Shelby Willer at 838-5423.

'This Blessed Knot'

Stage Two presents Ribald Midwest premiere: "This Blessed Knot," running through May 31. "This Blessed Knot" is a riotous take-off on the witchhunts of

Botanic Garden to host 'A Bloomin' Sale'

When the calendar says it's time to grow, gardeners know it's time to go to the Midwest's largest and oldest plant sale at the Chicago Botanic Garden. On May 16 through 18, gardeners will flock to the Garden to purchase some of the 37,000 plants that will be available at "A Bloomin' Sale."

This will be the biggest sale in the Chicago Horticultural Society Woman's Board 30-year history of conducting the Midwest's most popular plant sale.

Among the most sought-after items are the Garden's geraniums which are noted for their large and plentiful blossoms. A variety of colors and types are always crowd pleasers, along with annuals, blooming vines, edibles, herbs, grasses, aquatics, trees, shrubs, huge hanging baskets and more than 500 varieties of perennials.

There will be a first-time offering of a limited number of Maggie Daley astilbes, a shade tolerant perennial. The flowering plant was named in honor of Chicago's first lady by the Consulate of the Netherlands in 1996.

"A Bloomin' Sale" is open to the Garden's members from 3 to 7 p.m. on Friday, May 16 and from 8 to 10 a.m. on Saturday, May 17. The sale is open to members and the general public from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, May 17 and Sunday, May 18. For information on "A Bloomin' Sale," call, 835-5440.

the Puritan 1660s. Performances are 7:30 p.m. Thursdays, 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 3 p.m. Sundays, at the Stage Two Theatre, 410 Sheridan Rd., Highland. Tickets are $15 general public, $12 students and seniors and $10 for groups of eight or more. For ticket reservations call, 432-7469. ("Blessed Knot" contains nudity/language).

'The Fan'

The Bowen Park Theatre Co. presents "The Fan," an Italian comedy by Carlo Goldoni. The unique direction of this production allows the audience to see the inside workings of a Commedia Dell'Arte. "The Fan," originally produced in Venice in 1764, depicts the story of a fan as it changes hands within the village. A series of mishaps and miscommunications, intrigues and amuses us as the villages attempt to unite with their secret loves.

"The Fan" will run May 9, 10, 15, 16 and 17 at 8 p.m. and Sunday, May 11 at 3 p.m. The theatre is located in the Jack Benny Center for the Arts, 39 Jack Benny Dr. in Waukegan. Tickets are $18 for adults and $15 for senior citizens. For reservations, call 360-4741.

CLC musical audition

Aspiring singers and actors are invited to audition for the College of Lake County's summer musical production, "The Fantasticks," at 7 p.m., May 12 and 13, in the Studio Theatre of the Performing Arts Building on the Grayslake campus. The musical will be presented at 8 p.m., July 10 through 12 and at 3 p.m., July 13.

MUSIC

Roberta Flack

Roberta Flack and Ben E. King will entertain guests at the 10th annual Rita Hayworth Gala, "Hope Through Research," Saturday, May 10 at the Fairmont Hotel, 200 N. Columbus Dr.,

Chicago. All money raised will help fund the Alzheimer's Association's research program, including the Ronald and Nancy Reagan Research Institute. For tickets, call Lisa Chjernick at (312)335-5793.

Prairie Spirits

Dance, music and poetry will blend together when the College of Lake County's Prairie Spirits Dance Theatre performs at 7:30 p.m., May 9 and 10 in the Studio Theatre of the new Performing Arts Building on the Grayslake campus.

The troupe will perform "Behold!" a program of dances inspired by the diverse cultures and traditions of the CLC and Lake County communities. Prairie Spirits is a community-based group of more than 35 students, adults and children ranging in age from 8 to 50. The group's artistic director and founder is Leslie Hopkins, a CLC philosophy instructor. She also is the choreographer for "Behold!"

Tickets are $5, $4 for CLC students and alumni and free for children under 10. Call 543-2300 for information.

Folk duo

Phil Cooper and Margaret Nelson are a long-running folk duo who present a pleasing musical mix on every visit to the Adler House stage. They are known from coast to coast for Cooper's sublime finger-style guitar artistry that accompanies Nelson's classic handling of aged Anglo-American traditional ballads. The concert will begin at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 10 at the David Adler Cultural Center, 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville. For further information, call 367-0707.

Harmony rings

When Is The Best Time To Visit Hawaii?

by JIM WARREN, PRESIDENT
NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

So you've finally decided to take that Hawaiian vacation you've long dreamed about.

But when is the best time to go to Hawaii?

Well, if you're looking for bargains, the lowest prices to Hawaii (as with most tourist destinations) can be found for travel during the spring and fall.

Winter travel to Hawaii is very popular for obvious reasons. The summer months, being the traditional vacation time for many people, again brings another travel crunch to the islands. It's the in-between months when you'll get some great deals, and avoid the crowds.

So how about the weather? Is it too hot in the summer? Does Hawaii, like Bermuda, get colder during winter months? When is the "rainy season"?

Temperature wise, you couldn't find a more perfect place on earth than Hawaii. Daytime temperatures in the mid-80's and night time temperature in the low 70's don't vary more than 5 degrees all year.

There really is no "rainy season," although you may experience more of a chance of an afternoon shower during the winter months of December through February. Since this is also the best time of year for whale watching, I wouldn't rule it out.

Each island does, however, have a rainy and dry (windward and leeward) side.

For example, with an annual rainfall of over 500 inches per year Mount Waialeale on the Hawaiian Island of Kauai is the wettest spot on earth. Enough rain falls on this mountain to create a fully navigable river. Yet only a few miles to the leeward side of the island is the almost desert like conditions of the Waimea Canyon, also known as the Grand Canyon of the Pacific.

Likewise, you can experience some really intense rainstorms in the town of Hilo on the Big Island of Hawaii while at the same time your fellow vacationers may be sunning themselves under the cloudless skies of the Kona coast on the other side of the same island.

You might ask why even choose to visit Hilo, or any other part of the windward (wet) side of the islands. Well, you know all those waterfalls, orchids and other tropical foliage you see on the post cards? The rain side of the islands is where you'll find them.

If you do want to be assured of sunny skies for your Hawaiian vacation, pick Kona on the Big Island, Waialeale on Maui, or Poipu and Kauai.

Why God did not create mothers-in-law

One day in eternity, the angel Clarabella approached the Lord.

"My dear Lord, maker of heaven and earth and even—forgive me—telephone solicitors, but I have noticed something strange among Your followers on earth."

"What is it now, Clarabella?" sighed the Lord, for even in heaven, there was the occasional angel who tried His patience.

"I'm glad you asked! You see, I've been observing Your flock, in the United States in particular, and ... by the way, Lord, a follower of Yours—they call him President Clinton—made big money by renting out rooms at the White House during his last campaign. Perhaps we could rent out Your houses, because the collections have really dropped and I would think that folks would pay a lot more for a night at the house of the Lord..."

The Lord clapped his hands, and thunder rang out through the heavens.

"Get to the point, Clarabella."

"Forgive me, sir. It was just a suggestion. Anyway, as I was saying, these people in the United States are confused. Not that I think You're not aware, Lord, because I know that You know that...well, You know. But I have a question."

LIFE'S A BEAR

"I knew that."

"Oh, yes—all knowing! I forgot. Anyway, my question is this—what is the difference between a mother and a mother-in-law?" asked Clarabella.

The Lord smiled. "There is no difference."

"Really... well... it's not that I'm questioning You, dear Father, maker of heaven and earth and even—forgive me—lawyers, but there are people in the United States that are called "Mother-in-law" and I assumed that since You made just about everything, except maybe Bill Gates, You must have made 'mothers-in-law', too."

The Lord frowned. "No, Clarabella. I made only mothers, not 'mothers-in-law'. However, there are those amongst my flock who cannot see a mother for the trees."

Now it was Clarabella's turn to frown. "Wow, Lord...You are deep. 'Cannot see a mother for the trees.' Forgive me, but—I haven't a clue what You mean."

"Somehow, dear Clarabella, I'm not surprised. Now, listen closely, because I am only going to explain this to you once for all eternity." "Just once? Couldn't I buy a vowel?"

"CLARABELLA!" warned the Lord, pointing his finger and causing a thunderbolt that knocked out power throughout the Midwest.

Now, Clarabella was irritating but she wasn't stupid! So she "zipped her lip" and waited for the Lord to finish explaining to her about mothers-in-law.

"Thank you, my child. Now, I will ask you three questions, and I want you to shake your head "Yes" or "No", and when we are finished, you will understand. Do you think you can do that, Clarabella?" asked the Lord.

Clarabella nodded her head "yes".

"Then, let us begin. Question number 1 - do mothers give their children life?"

Clarabella nodded her head "yes."

"Question number 2 - do mothers give their children love?" Again, Clarabella nodded her head "yes."

"All right then. If these things are true, then consider this - A son finds a woman to be his wife and enters into the bond of holy matrimony. To his wife, he is now "the love of her life". Since his mother gave him love and life, and then gave unto his wife "the love of her life," is she not worthy to be called "mother" by them both?"

Clarabella nodded her head "yes" once more, and then began wildly waving one hand in the air.

The Lord sighed heavily, causing a tornado to rip through Kansas. "I knew you couldn't remain silent much longer, Clarabella. What is it?"

"Well, Lord, I understand now. It was man who created mothers-in-law, not You. But then I'm confused about something else. Correct me if I'm wrong, but I was under the impression that You created all of heaven and earth."

The Lord chuckled.

"That's easy to explain, Clarabella. Just think of a piece of clay. I merely gave my flock the clay with which to mold their lives. But it is not always their choice to mold the clay in my image," said the Lord.

"OH! I get it! So that would explain Dennis Rodman!"

"Yes, I suppose it would," answered the Lord.

"In fact," Clarabella continued, "that explains just about everything your followers do that I don't understand. Lord, You've outdone Yourself. I'm speechless."

"Amen," said the Lord. "A-MEN!"

Donna Abear can also be heard as a guest humorist on WXLC 102.3 FM's morning show at 7:10 a.m. on alternate Mondays.

MOVIE PICK

'Romy & Michele' hit it big

Ever since Mae West and Jean Harlow played the sexy and almost always dumb blond bombshell on the silver screen over 60 years ago, many such sparkling, flaxen-haired comedienettes have come and gone.

Veronica Lake, Joan Blondell, Ann Southern, Carol Landis, Judy Holiday, Marilyn Monroe, Kim Novak, Mamie VanDoren, Goldie Hawn and Melanie Griffith, were just a few who carried on this golden air-headed tradition.

Enter two such women of the '90s, who turn out to be as funny, or funnier, than the aforementioned stars. We're talking about your "Friend" and our "Friend," Lisa Kudrow, and Mira (of the crying dad at the AAs) Sorvino in "Romy and Michele's High School Reunion."

They play two ex-high school seat fillers who want to impress the people who hardly remember them at their 10th class reunion. Who among us hasn't hoped to return to their old school digs lookin' good and dripping with success and money?

Romy and Michele, Venice Beach roomies, who have been popping from entry level jobs to unemployment, love their superficial lives that are all about having fun. When they attend their reunion, posing as successful scientists and business women, the hilarity begins and continues through one of the funniest movies of the year.

Janeane Garofalo, a not so lovable old school mate, is bent on exposing them to all the spiteful ex-cheerleaders, etc. Kudrow and Sorvino draw laughs just by the geeky way they dress or enter a room.

You'll laugh at them and love them and their naive goodness, despite the sexy trappings, in this most enjoyable funfest. In one scene, as "business women," they do their hair in sedate beehives and don somber black as they settle for burgers and cokes after failing to find the "the business woman's special" on the menu.

Michele and Romy become so dear to your heart that, despite the notorious failure of sequels, we hope to go on more adventures with them. In Kudrow we have a "Friend" who can be funny on the big screen, a fete only accomplished so far by Matthew Perry. We give this "R" rated funny flick four out of five funny stars.—By Gloria Davis

Bone marrow, organ donation drive kicked off by Zumwalt

Joins Baxter firm to launch nation-wide blood program

Without a heart transplant, Bart Biondi would not have left Evanston Hospital alive in November 1994. After four heart attacks and two long months in the hospital, he finally received the heart of a young man from New Mexico.

Five minutes after giving birth to her son, Helen Chen began losing consciousness from a postpartum hemorrhage. Two units of blood and one unit of plasma saved her life and her future with her son.

Wilma Warren had been a regular blood donor for years. In 1995, she increased her commitment and registered for potential donation of her bone marrow. One year later, she learned that her bone marrow matches that of a 40-year-old woman with an incurable blood disease and she is awaiting the opportunity to donate her marrow.

Such real life experiences of Baxter International employees touch the lives of thousands of people across the nation everyday.

Today, Baxter International and Admiral E.R. Zumwalt, Jr., founder and chairman of The Marrow Foundation, launched the first-ever, company-sponsored, nationwide program that combines blood donation and bone marrow registration with an awareness program for organ donation.

"People who have been directly touched by the gift of blood, bone marrow or an organ transplant can truly appreciate the magnitude of such a program," said Zumwalt, whose son was the recipient of a bone marrow transplant that prolonged his life two years after being diagnosed with lymphoma.

The announcement was made in conjunction with National Organ and Tissue Donor Awareness Week, and comes in response by requests by Baxter employees to expand the company's existing blood donor program to include bone marrow typing and education about organ donation.

Nationwide, more than 40,000 units of blood are needed everyday. Nearly 70 percent of bone marrow transplant patients cannot find suitable donors. And more than 103,000 people die every year waiting to either receive an organ transplant or be placed on a transplant waiting list.

For many years, Baxter has operated a highly successful blood donation program at its U.S. facilities. In 1996, Baxter's participation rate was 42.5 percent, double the national average for company-sponsored blood drives. More than 8,000 employees at Baxter's facilities in the United States are expected to participate in this "Person 2 Person" program over the next three years.

"As a recognized leader in the health-care industry, Baxter needs to set an example for blood, bone marrow and organ donation participation," said Vernon

R. Loucks Jr., chairman and chief executive officer of Baxter International. "We challenge other organizations to get involved at the same level."

The Baxter facilities will hold a "Person 2 Person" drive annually over the next three years. For employees who wish to become potential bone marrow donors, Baxter will cover the cost of human leukocyte antigen typing which is approximately $45 per person. Additionally, Baxter will showcase five employees who each have personal experience with blood, bone marrow and organ donation throughout the program. The National Kidney Foundation of Illinois, the American Assn. of Blood Banks, The Marrow Foundation and the National Marrow Donor Program are participating in the "Person 2 Person" launch.

Ear infections dangerous for kids

By GLORIA DAVIS
Staff Reporter

One of the hardest things a parent can experience is seeing their children in pain. Anyone who claims that "there is no pain like a toothache or having sore feet," has never had a serious ear infection that results in an earache which can make your feel like your head is about to explode.

Every year, acute otitis media, an inflammatory condition of the middle ear, results in victims making 30 million visits to the doctor with an earache.

Between 1975 and 1990, the number of children under two years of age who complained to their physician of this ear infection quadrupled, according to a 1995 study done by the Centers for Disease Control.

Other reports claim that the increase of children being placed in nursery schools and day care centers, or other places where many children are being cared for at one time and are in close contact with each other, just may be a contributing factor to the vast increase in ear infections.

Michael E. Pichichero, M.D., 45, a certified pediatrician practicing with the Elmwood Pediatric Group in Rochester, NY, who has dealt with this infection increase first hand, said, "It is general knowledge in the medical profession, gained from earlier research studies, that untreated ear infections can lead to chronic or permanent hearing loss, which if occurring before the age of three may interfere with a child's ability to learn and speak correctly."

Dr. Pichichero, who is also a professor of Microbiology and Immunology, Pediatrics and Medicine at the University of Rochester Medical Center, hearing claims that Cefzil, (cefprozil), a product of the Bristol-Myers Squibb Co., is capable of drawing favorable responses from victims of otitis media who failed therapy with other antibiotics such as Amoxicillin, went to the pharmaceutical company and asked that they sponsor a study on this claim.

The company agreed and Dr. Pichichero, who had previously done research in connection with problems he met in his practice, spearheaded a year long study which showed that indeed children six months to 12 years old with otitis media may respond to Cefzil.

Approximately 3 percent of those treated reported side effects of the drug causing diarrhea and 2 percent reported a rash.

"This is a treatment only recommended after the failure of treatment with more commonly prescribed antibiotics, or the draining of the abscess in the ear and allowing the body's immune system to do the rest, successful in 98 percent of earache victims, an old practice being brought back," added Dr. Pichichero.

"Cefzil, a strong antibiotic, should be used only when these 'super bugs' don't respond to other treatments."

Doctors don't want to use strong antibiotics such as Cefzil unless necessary as in treating persistent ear infections, so that the body won't become immune to them," added Dr. Pichichero.

Victory Lakes celebrates 'Aging Week'

The community is invited to join the residents, volunteers and staff at Victory Lakes Continuing Care Center, 1055 E. Grand Ave., Lindenhurst, to celebrate "Homes for the Aging Week," May 11 through 17.

As prelude to the many events planned during the week, there will be a groundbreaking for the new Surgery, Diagnostic and Rehabilitation Center and the Village at Victory Lakes at 4 p.m. on Friday, May 9. The Surgery, Diagnostic and Rehabilitation Center will provide northwestern Lake County a wide range of services, which are currently available at Victory Memorial Hospital in Waukegan. The village at Victory Lakes will provide 100 apartments and 40 cottages for senior independent living and an 84-unit assisted living facility for seniors requiring more care.

For more information about the other events during "Homes For the Aging Week," call, 356-5900.

Barrington Kiwanis plans Kids Care and Safety Fair

The Kiwanis Club of Barrington and JFK Health World, Barrington are co-hosting a Kids Care and Safety Fair with the cooperation of Good Shepherd Hospital; Northwest Community Hospital; the McHenry and Cook County Departments of Health, the Barrington-Inverness Police Dept.; and the Barrington Fire Dept.

The fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, May 17 at JFK Health World, 1301 S. Grove, Barrington.

The Kids Care and Safety Fair is a family event designed to celebrate the health and safety of our area's most precious resources—our children. Services being offered include child identification with fingerprinting; identification videotaping and photos; immunizations for $1 per shot (bring your child's current immunization record); lead testing for $20; free asthma and scoliosis testing; bicycle safety, child and infant car seat safety; drug awareness, and burn, vehicle and home safety. The fair also will offer pony rides, clowns, The Tooth Fairy, food, entertainment, and educational fun for the whole family.

Additionally, families attending the Kids Care and Safety Fair will have free admission to all of the interactive exhibits at JFK Health World.

JFK Health World is a hands-on museum and learning center for teaching children about health and living. It's one of the largest and most technologically advanced children's museums in America.

For more information, call JFK Health World at 842-9100.

For immunization questions, call Good Shepherd Hospital's HealthAdvisor at 1(800)323-8622.

Program to strengthen families available

John Covey, Ed.D, director of the Home and Family Dept. and co-founder of the Education Div. of Covey Leadership Center in Provo, Utah, will teach families how to develop a family mission statement as a tool to strengthen relationships and hold families together more effectively.

Covey, the brother of Stephen Covey, best-selling author of the soon to be published "The 7 Habits of Effective Families," and also a founder of the Covey Leadership Center, will hold the workshop on Tuesday, May 20 from 6 to 9 p.m. at Condell Medical Center's Allen Conference Center, 700 Garfield Ave., Libertyville.

Tickets are priced at $15 for adults, $25 for two and may be purchased at the Medical Center Health Institute located in Centre Club, or by calling 362-2905, ext. 5770.

"This program will lead to a greater sense of purpose, understanding and fulfillment in your family life," said Karen Demski, director of community education at the medical center. "A Family Mission Statement will help families focus on a vision of the future in ways that unite and strengthen."

I was treated for prostate cancer two days ago. Today, I'm back in the field.

New advances in the treatment of prostate cancer have made it possible for many men to get back to their normal routine, even as soon as two days after treatment.

One of the treatments which provides this benefit is seed implantation, a non-surgical, outpatient procedure which places a radiation source, or "seeds", inside of the prostate. Once inside, the seeds deliver radiation directly to the prostate, attacking the cancer while you continue your normal daily routine.

Seed implantation therapy is just one of several treatment options for prostate cancer available at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, one of the most highly rated hospitals in the U.S.* Midwestern's cancer program is managed by Cancer Treatment Centers of America.

In addition to advanced medical care, Midwestern also offers support therapies including diet planning, vitamin and mineral supplementation, support groups, counseling and pastoral care.

To learn more about treatment options for prostate cancer, please call Cancer Treatment Centers of America toll-free at 1-800-940-2822.

YOUR EYES

by Charlotte F. Nielsen O.D.

While there is a lot of controversy about the quality of sunglasses on the market, there is common agreement that protection of the eyes from sunlight is necessary.

The FDA is concerned about ultraviolet light because medical research has linked it to cataracts and other eye disorders such as pterygium, a condition in which a small membrane grows over the cornea. The industry has established a three category voluntary labeling program...cosmetic, general purpose and special purpose...but that is of little help to the public. The major concern is the amount of UV rays blocked out and those categories won't tell you. The more blockage of UV the more desirable the glasses.

Why not call to schedule a complete eye examination, and let us recommend the best sunglasses for your situation. Call today.

GARDEN JOURNAL

Lydia Huff

Give a gift of beauty

Glancing at the calendar, I couldn't help but notice this Sunday is Mother's Day. If you need to shop for a gift, think of flowers. My son has been buying me a potted plant since he has been in kindergarten (he is 17 now). Every time I'd glance at that particular bloom I'd think of him.

I've received many plants for the garden over the years which I still treasure. Many of my favorite roses came to me as gifts on this day. Also, my precious pink hibiscus was a Mother's Day gift from my sister, I believe I've had it about five years now!

Visit the local nursery to see what is new, and for some ideas on what to buy. A flat of annuals (i.e. petunias, snapdragons, impatiences, geraniums) is a good gift. Then, volunteer to help mom plant them. My mother and I have had many a morning bonding in our respective gardens. It's a special way to demonstrate your love.

Shrubs, trees, vines and perennials are truly everlasting presents. How about a fruit tree? Fruit trees have a graceful growth habit and are especially beautiful in spring when they are in full blossom. Lilacs, crab apple and mock orange are beautiful, fragrant selections. Even if mom is not an avid gardener, she will appreciate their beauty.

You can even buy mom a veggie garden. Pot up a few tomatoes, peppers and herbs in containers and she'll have a garden ripe for picking right off her deck.

You can make up a basket or bucket (perhaps a big watering can) toss in gardening tools, gloves, handcream (dirt is rough on those hands), packets of seeds, a gift certificate from the gardening center. Yard decorations are fun too!

There are many good magazines out there, you can buy mom a subscription to one. I've always enjoyed Rodale's Organic Gardening. Also, there are many good books that are great for a reference guide. Don't forget to throw in a sun hat!

Hope I gave you some ideas. Happy Mother's Day to all moms out there.

Happy planting, until next time, peace.

Bishop Kicanas to speak at prayer breakfast

Lake County Men's Ministries and The CREDO Foundation Inc. of Palatine, extend an invitation to a May 9 prayer breakfast. This Friday morning breakfast is scheduled to start at 7:30 a.m. at the Mundelein Holiday Inn, Rtes. 83 and 60.

The breakfast will be highlighted by a message from Bishop Kicanas. Bishop Kicanas' message will be "Celebrating the Millennium—Renewing Our Lives Through Jesus." Network with men from Lake County parishes; renew your faith during an inspirational presentation by Bishop Kicanas; evangelize your neighbors and friends by inviting them to attend.

Cost of the prayer breakfast is $15 payable at the door. For further information, call 949-5100.

Holiday Inn - perfect setting for any event

The Holiday Inn on Rte. 83 in Mundelein is now under new management and is undergoing a four million dollar makeover. They now have the largest and finest banquet facility in the area, perfect for weddings, showers, family reunions or business meetings.

"With the near completion of our guestrooms and banquet facility, we are preparing for the second phase," according to Fran McGunigal, director of sales, further commenting, "There will be a new restaurant, lounge, and an additional conference center."

Meet our staff: The Holiday Inn has a complete catering service that provides standard or customized menus for groups up to 650. A very experienced professional staff offers friendly and personalized service. Hasan Ali, director of food and beverages, has managed banquets for large 450 room Chicago hotels; Chef Larry Konieczka specializes in banquet events; Kelly Faith has many years of experience in banquet events from weddings to Bar Mitzvahs, to corporate events and special parties of any kind; Missy Schufreider specializes in business meetings and Stuart Gold, banquet manager, sees that all plans are carried out to the last detail.

Jeff Fiman is the new general manager, coming to us from the Tucson East Hilton. The entire team's focus will be to enhance service and hospitality of excellence. "We have a commitment to the community to exceed the expectations of our guests, and make our community proud of their hotel," Fiman noted. To make your special event a success, call (847) 949-5100.

'Smart Summer Camp' challenges children

Dear Dr. Singer,

I saw that a couple weeks ago you wrote a column about your PACE Program for kids with learning problems. I have a child who has struggled with learning for such a long time and was hoping that you might run your program in the summer.

Do you? I also wondered if you could elaborate a little bit in one of your future columns about the kinds of things PACE helps kids with? I read the last column that explained the levels of learning, but I would really like to have more information on the actual skills your program builds. Thanks. P.P.

Dear P.P.,

PACE is most certainly run over the summer. In fact, some parents find that the best time since there are less time obligations during that time of year. It is a very short term program and kids can be completely finished with it by the beginning of school. Some people call PACE, "Smart Summer Camp." Kids don't find it terribly objectionable, because it is completely non-academic. They find it to be challenging and seem to want to see how far they can go. This translates into the development of perseverance. Additionally, most kids I've worked with have seen an average increase of three grade levels by the end of the program.

For the purposes of this question, I will list the areas that PACE helps train and improve:

1. Attention: The ability to stay on task, even when distractions are present.

2. Simultaneous Processing: The ability to handle more than one thing at a time (to listen to an instructor while taking notes.)

3. Sequential Processing: The ability to link a series of inputs over time; a skill required for reading so that the beginner can blend a series of sounds to create words and the advanced reader can link a series of words to understand the story or idea.

4. Planning or Organization: The ability to decide how you are going to solve a problem, make sure it gets done, check it for mistakes, and modify it if needed.

5. Processing Speed: The ability to quickly perform cognitive tasks; an important skill for complex tasks or tasks that have many steps (i.e., if we are dividing two numbers in our head but processing is slow, we might forget an earlier calculation before we are done and have to start over again—we took longer to do the problem than our ability to remember).

6. Short-term Memory: The ability to store and recall small amounts of information about the current situation; children with STM problems may need to look several times at something before copying, have problems following instructions, or need to have information repeated often.

7. Long-term Memory: The ability to recall information that was stored in the past, when needed; very important for spelling, recalling facts on tests, and comprehension.

8. Auditory Processing: The ability to perceive, analyze and conceptualize what is heard; critical in beginning reading and spelling because it includes hearing, identifying and blending sounds, and sounding out words.

9. Visual Processing: The ability to perceive, analyze, and think in visual images; includes visualization, which is the ability to create a picture in your mind; children who have problems with visual processing may reverse letters or have difficulty following instructions, reading maps, doing word math problems, and comprehending.

All of these areas are trained and improved through PACE. Please note that PACE is not a tutoring-based service.

It works with the underlying skills that help tutoring to have a lasting effect. You should also know that PACE works with two kinds of kids. Those who can benefit from the program include high or average performers who want to perform mental activities faster, more efficiently, and even better than before, and also below average performers who have learning difficulties that need improvement.

These difficulties can include: troubles staying on task, working too slowly or too hard, difficulties comprehending what is read, problems remembering or poor spelling, reading or math skills.

For information on PACE, please call (630) 415-0974 ext. 3 and leave your address. For an appointment call Dr. Singer at (708) 962-2549.

Horoscope

Aries - March 21/April 20

The sun is shining on you at work. Everything is going your way, and you should revel in it. Now's your chance to get yourself noticed. Romance blossoms in your personal life. Someone whom you thought was just a friend reveals his or her true feelings for you.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Strong and steady wins the race, and your personality fits the bill. When everyone else is frantic over a mistake at work, your calm nature will correct the problem and save the day. A loved one reveals a secret to you. Keep his or her confidence, and be supportive.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You may feel like you have a split personality this week. Everyone will be pulling you in a different direction, and you don't know which way to turn. Take a step back, relax, and think about how you really feel. Do what you believe in, and don't let others pressure you. Aquarius plays a role.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You're in the doghouse at work this week. It seems as if everything you do is wrong. However, this too shall pass. Hold tight, and do your best. You'll be doing well again soon. As for your love life, it's just the opposite. You have suitors knocking at your door at all hours of the day and night. Don't be overwhelmed.

Leo - July 23/August 23

Your outgoing nature wins you points with your superiors at work early in the week. However, remember not to get cocky. It can be a fine line between outgoing and obnoxious. A friend you haven't seen in a few months returns to your life. Catch up on the time you've missed with each other. Taurus plays an important role.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

Take a backseat at work this week. Let someone else get a chance to shine. Just because you're not in the spotlight doesn't mean that your work isn't good. You're still being noticed by superiors. A loved one needs your help at the end of the week. Give him or her support.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Your time is a popular commodity this week. Between co-workers, family and friends, it seems that you have no time for yourself. Everyone needs your advice and help. Give what you can, but remember to take care of yourself. There comes a time when you have to look out for No. 1.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't be afraid to go out on a limb at work this week. Ingenuity is called for, and your crazy idea really does have merit. Don't hold yourself back from sharing it with your manager. A loved one is there for you when a relationship ends. Take him or her up on the offer of a shoulder to cry on.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

When you make a mistake at work this week, admit it. Everyone can see through your lies. A co-worker is there to help you correct the problem. As for your love life, don't worry — there are no mistakes in sight. That special someone you've had your eye on finally asks you out. Say yes!

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Put your nose to the grindstone at work early in the week. There's too much to be done to goof off. Besides, it's in your best interest to get a lot of work done; your superiors are watching. A family matter erupts into a huge fight later in the week. Don't choose sides.

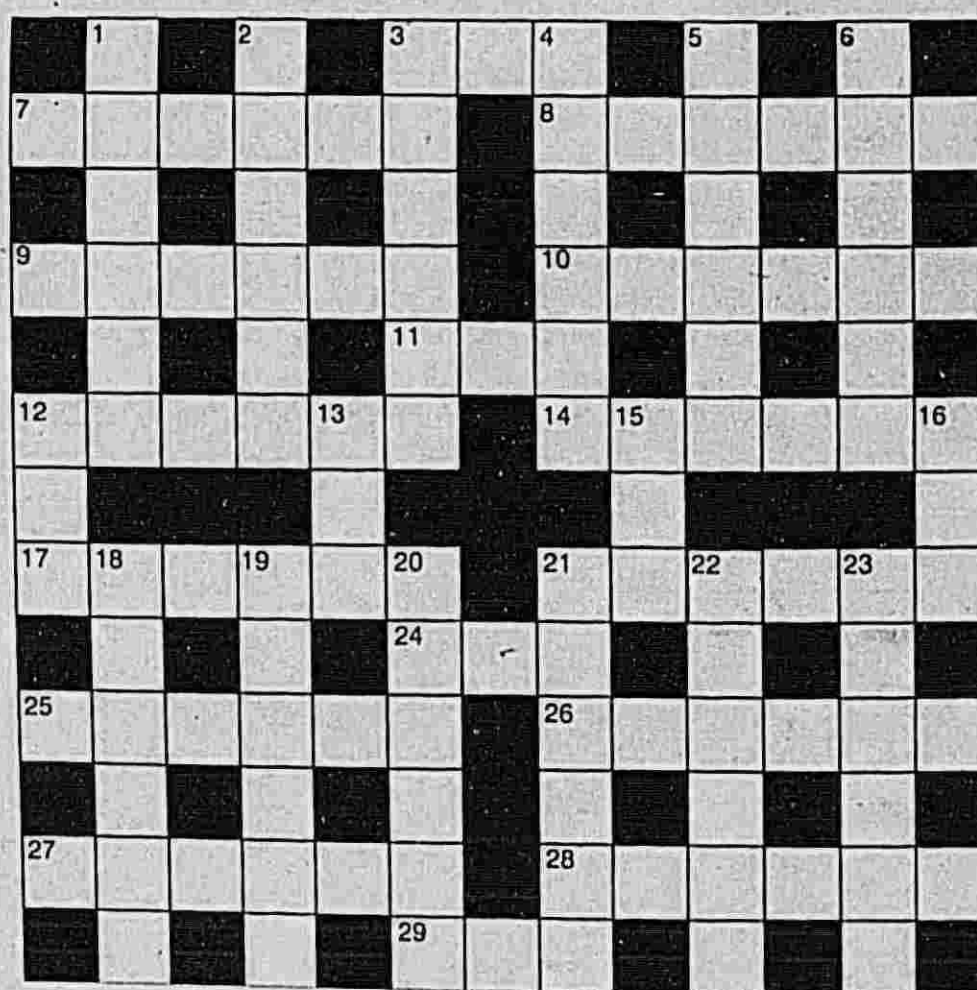

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

You're in over your head at work this week. Ask for help. It's not a sign of weakness; it's a sign of intelligence. A close friend needs your advice this week. Be honest, and don't let petty jealousy get in the way. Remember, this is a good friend who always has helped you.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

Family matters take center stage this week. Give your support to loved ones, but don't get drawn into a family fight. Try to keep everyone objective. It will work out. As for your love life, you won't have to work hard at all. An old flame returns to rekindle your relationship.

Designers' elegant touches showcase public awareness for women, children

A comfortable home evoking the care and detail of a homeowner who oversees every last detail, from the hand-painted fire screen to the vase of flowers on a bedside table, is welcoming the public into its foyer and rooms beyond as part of the seventh bi-annual Lake Forest Infant Welfare Showcase House.

By the time the sun sets on May 18, it's expected 10,000 visitors will have visited the home which has been meticulously decorated for the show.

The 1997 Lake Forest Infant Welfare Showcase House is a comfortable and gracious home dominated by nature-oriented themes. It is equally at home as the setting for an informal family gathering as it is for an elegant formal dinner.

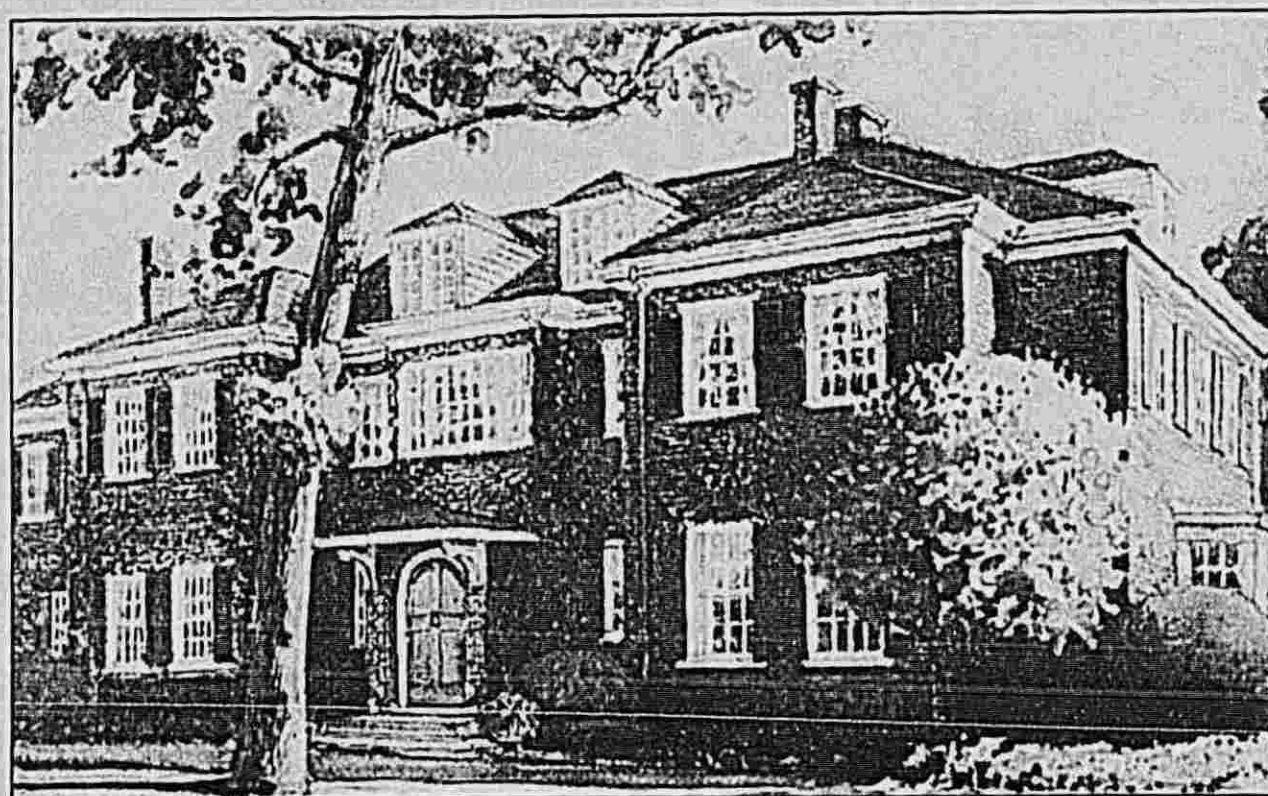

Designers didn't skim on the finishing touches when they put together their showcase rooms, but even though the price tags may be out of reach for many, there are clever ideas throughout the home which could easily translate into a similar less costly version.

The showcase is being held at the turn of the century "Frogner," manor house. The home was originally built for Frederik

Herman Gade and designed by Architect Arthur Heun. Gade was an early mayor of Lake Forest. The home is listed on the National Register of Historic Places as a notable example of arts and crafts design. It has been expanded with a wing to the east, including a gourmet kitchen great room and spa.

Individual rooms in the red brick house were decorated by 17 designers. Set on a private drive surrounded by 5-acres the exterior was also pruned and planted by 11 landscapers to make sure no detail was overlooked. Even a second story balcony off the front stairway landing was given the extra special touch by Claire Painter, of Painted Garden, Highland Park. She covered the balcony's artificial turf floor with mulch and set it with a garden bench and potted annuals to make a cheerful retreat.

The dream home showcase features a mother-in-law suite which epitomizes the style of Sister Parish, a favorite designer of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis. Parish was known for using a mix of chintzes. This room by Green Shutters of Lake Forest, includes a reproduction of a rug for Onassis' estate collection.

Other rooms on the tour include a child's dream playroom, a deluxe ladies coat room off the foyer including a vanity, a teen's room, a fantasy spa and the more traditional rooms of a home from the living room to master suite.

One of the most eye catching rooms in the home is the dining room, directly off the entryway, designed by Kathleen Willoughby of Among Friends, Winnetka.

The walls of the room are paneled in pale yellow silk featuring hand-painted renditions by Katherine Hale, of fruit taken from Spanish prints. The botanical theme is carried through to the upholstered dining chairs which feature contrasting fabric on the back-sides in a botanical print and striped fabric on the front.

The head chairs are also painted with botanical renderings. Willoughby used a mix of Brunswick and Fils fabrics and trims throughout the dining room in a celery-green color and topped it off with a whimsical chandelier and sconces sporting monkey figurines.

In keeping with the homes moniker, Willoughby placed canvas decorated with small frogs on the dining room fireplace surround, to coordinate with the decor and also carried the theme through to the table with small brass place card holders in the shape of frogs.

The solarium is another of the showrooms, meticulously researched and decorated to the period of the home by Virginia Couter and Margaret Carr of Longmeadow Interiors, Lake Forest. The room features a wicker collection by a name that's making a resurgence in the world of antique furniture, Heywood-Wakefield. Wakefield is most recognized for its contemporary looking wood furniture popular in the 1950s and '60s. Another highlight of the room is an antique Chinese screen featuring embossed, stamped panels.

Some of the easily translated ideas for do it yourself decorators in the home include bamboo shades in the solarium, many of the bathrooms feature vanities covered with fabric skirts which is an easy way of covering an old cabinet instead of replacing it and in one of the bathrooms the countertop was actually painted in a faux stone pattern and lacquered several times to make it waterproof. Another quick fix decorating tip used in the library was a thin application of dark wood toned paint over the wood paneling and shelves to hide the flaws.

Finding a home for the show is a task in itself. The society was fortunate to land Frogner for its showcase. The house was listed for sale, which is the preferred status for all the showcase homes to make the remodeling process easier. The home didn't stay on the market for long, it was purchased before the show even began.

Co-chair of the Lake Forest Showcase House Lynn Preschlack said it takes almost a year and a half to get a house ready for the show. The Lake Forest Infant Welfare board of 75 women and many volunteers donate numerous hours to coordinating the event.

To make sure the rooms are somewhat cohesive the designers all must submit their ideas to a committee for approval. Another interesting fact about this show-house is it is decorated as a home someone would live in rather than an avant-garde showplace for designers. The majority of the designers working on the home are from Lake Forest with a few from the North Shore and Chicago. All of their services are donated.

The Lake Forest Infant Welfare Showcase House is regarded as one of the top showhomes in the country and is presented in partnership with Traditional Home magazine. Following the show the magazine will come in and spend days photographing Frogner for a future issue.

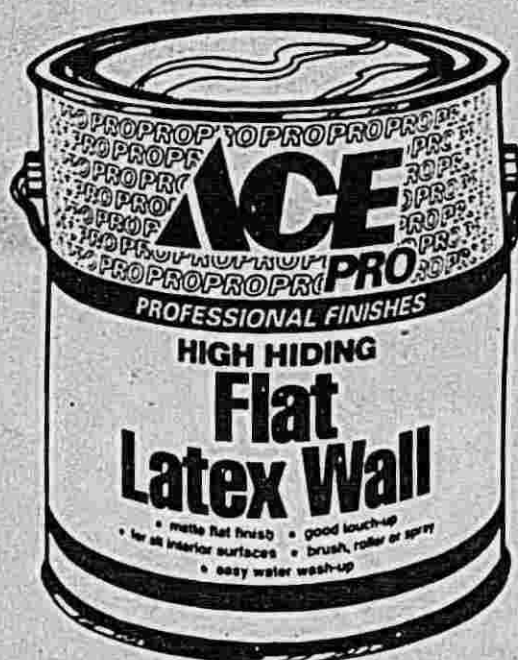

The society presents the showhouse every two years to raise money for its non-profit programs for women and children operated by the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago. The society's services are based out of the Philip D. Armour Child and Family Center, Chicago.

The home will be open for viewing through Sunday, May 18. Hours are 10 a.m.-3 p.m. weekdays with the exception of Thursday when the home remains open until 7:30 p.m. Weekends the home is open from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. Tickets are $18 at the door or $15 in advance by calling (847) 295-7060.

There is a shuttle bus to the home from Christ Church at the northwest corner of routes 43 and 60 on weekdays. Weekends the shuttle leaves from Deerpath School at the intersection of Deerpath and Hastings roads. Parking is free. No children or infants under the age of 8 are allowed on the tour. Cover sofas, chairs in new bold fabrics

The business trend of "thinking out of the box" has impacted the upholstered furniture industry in a big way. If you are planning to buy a new sofa, love seat or chair, or reupholster old favorites, consider a non-traditional approach. The latest fashion in upholstery goes beyond a splash of contrasting accent pillows.

Check out the new look of multiple fabrics covering one piece of upholstered furniture. Imagine a collage of different prints covering arms, backs and seats. It works beautifully, no matter what style or size of chair, sofa or love seat, and gives you a unique way to personalize the look of your room.

Collage combinations make a signature statement and the variations are unlimited. Here are a few ideas for creating an upholstery collage:

Fully upholstered pieces

Sofas, love seats and chairs, cover the frame in a solid fabric with loose-seat and back-box cushions covered topside only in a print. By covering only the tops, you can reverse them to create a solid look.

Using three coordinating fabrics, cover arms with one, the back and front with the second and loose-seat cushions with the third.

Chairs

For dining room or occasional, cover the front in a solid or print and redo the back in a check or plaid.

Cover the seat in a solid fabric and wrap the back with a coordinating stripe or different solid color.

Alternate fabrics on individual dining chairs.

Following a monochromatic color scheme, try an assortment of textures; rawhide, embossed leather and matching tweed for a casual look, or a combination of damask and striped silk for a formal air.

A patchwork of prints on country-style furniture evokes a cozy feeling.

The best way to devise an attractive upholstery collage or plan other decorating projects is to have the assistance of an interior decorator. Think of your professional decorator as your personal "facilitator."

As with business facilitators, the ultimate mission of interior decorators is to guide their client's ideas to the most direct and pleasing conclusion.

Crabapple trees show year-round beauty

This tree or clump form plant can be used in many applications in the landscape. It can stand alone as a specimen, in a group planting, a backdrop, corner planting of a home, an in a entry-way garden. It has many shapes from rounded to horizontal to pendulous or vase-shaped and even fastigate. This plant is valued for its flowers, foliage and fruit display. Have you guessed? It's the crabapple and certain varieties show year-round interest in the landscape. Their form is magnificent to view as they mature. They vary in size from the dwarf "Tina" crab to the larger, wilder "Zumi" crabs which attain a 30-foot width and 30-foot height at maturity.

There are literally over 600 varieties of crabapples to date and more being discovered. These plants are now evaluated according to disease susceptibility and thanks to men such as Dr. Lester Nichols, Dr. Ed. Hasselkus, Dr. Malcolm Shurtliff, Dr. Elton Smith and others, we are able to grow only the best rated plants for the trade and the general public. Since there are so many crabs available, I'd like to only mention one variety per color for this article.

An outstanding pink is the Malus "Adams." Its carmine buds open to form a pink flower each spring. The fruit is a deep red and very persistent and approximately 5/8-inches in diameter. A very rounded, dense plant that is very resistant to diseases. We like this plant for its persistent berry interest and its dense growth, which helps hide unsightly views in the landscape. I really have two favorite white flowering crabs and they are the Malus "Donald Wyman" and "Sugartyme." The "Donald Wyman" crab has a reddish-pink bud which opens to form a single white flower. Shows a nice, large lustrous green leaf all summer. Maturity is 20-feet high by 25-feet wide.

The "Sugartyme" is a relative newcomer to the trade. The most outstanding features about this plant are its incredible, persistent red fruit that is abundant, and it's wide and somewhat horizontal branching is also very interesting. The "Sargenti" and "Tia" and "Molton Lava" crabs are also great white flowering plants. (It's so hard to have only a few favorites!)

The Malus "prairiefire" has a deep red bud that opens to show a carmine-red flower. As the tiny leaves emerge, they show a maroon color that turns a dark green as they mature. This particular crab is a slow grower with a mature height of 15- to 18-feet. Very resistant to diseases.

The crab needs only sun to show off for you and cannot grow in wet locations. The character of this plant emerges as it matures and certain years will be extremely floriferous in the spring with thousands of berries to follow for fall and winter interest.

Pooch: Dogs excited about playtime area

It's awesome."

Outlaw said, on a sunny Saturday, it's not unusual to see more than 100 dogs at the site, running and playing off leash.

"But dog fights don't happen out here," said Outlaw. "The dog knows it's not home, so they're not territorial. I've seen some aggressive behavior, but I've never seen a real dog fight."

The dog training site is especially appreciated by Lake County residents with big dogs and small yards.

"I just moved into a town home with no backyard," said Barb Mangler, of Libertyville, who has an adopted Greyhound, Buddy. "This is a godsend."

Billie Spain, the Lake County Forest Preserve receptionist who sells permits for the site, can attest to its popularity. "People love it; it's like a club for dogs," she said. Permits go on sale in October and, so far, more than 700 have been sold. Spain said permit sales increase in the warmer months, and by year's end, sales will reach about 1,000. She said sales have steadily increased in the last three years.

The permits cost $25 for the year for Lake County residents and $50 for out-of-county users. Purchasers receive a sticker for up to two cars and the combination to the gate.

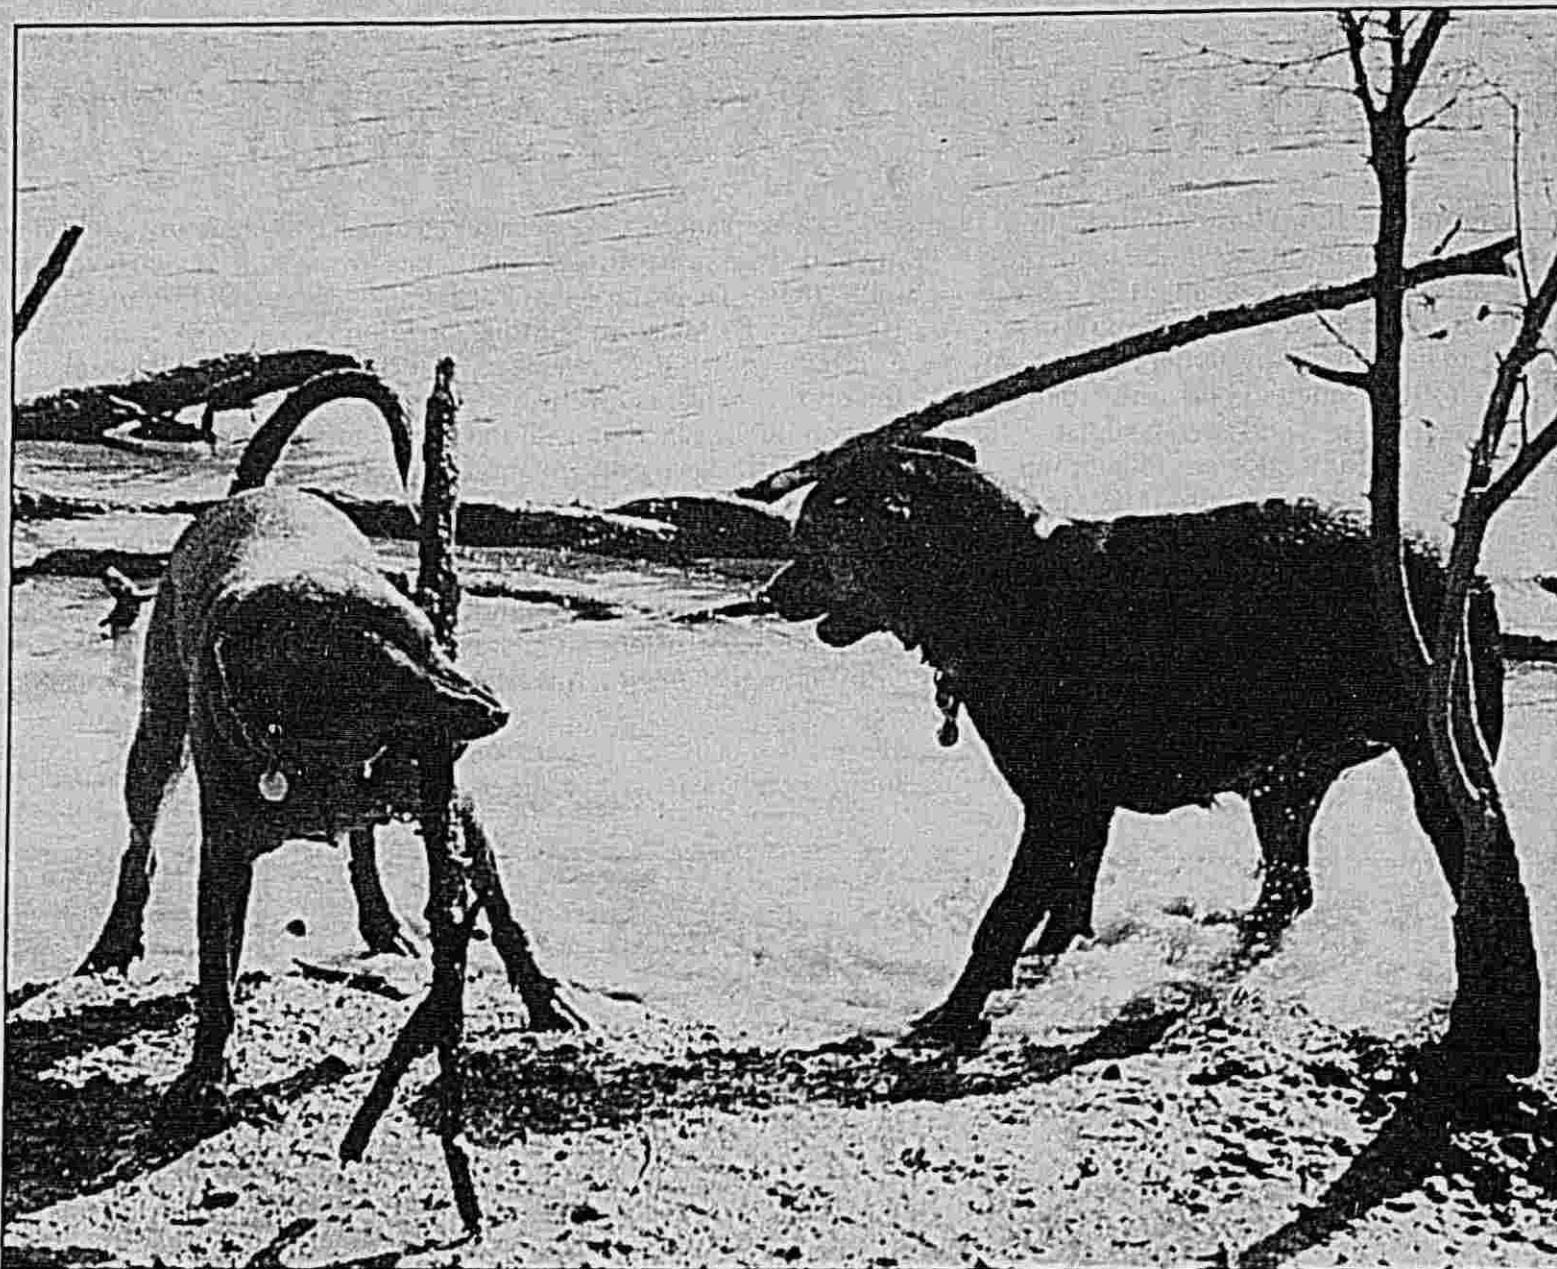

The area is closed off by fences, and a ranger frequently checks to make sure users have permits.

Permit purchasers can bring as many dogs as they own, but the dogs are required to be up-to-date on their shots and be in control off leash.

Spain said she hears a lot of positive feedback. "People say they're glad we have it. They tell us their dog gets upset if they don't get to go to the site. People have called and said, they were reminded to buy their permits because, when they were driving past the site, their dog went crazy."

The site is so popular, in fact, the forest preserve plans to build two more sites, one at Lakewood Forest Preserve in Wauconda, and another at Prairie Wolf Slough in Lake Forest.

Brian Hallwas, director of operations for the forest preserve, expects the Lakewood site to be ready in September and the Lake Forest site in the early part of '98. He said he expects one permit will be good for all three sites. Hallwas said when determining where to put the new dog play sites, staff looked at which sites were less environmentally sensitive and would be appropriate for dog play, with fields and water features. He is hoping the Lakewood site will divert use of the Cuba Marsh forest preserve, which is environmentally sensitive. They also surveyed users of the site and found most were from the southern half of the county.

The idea for having a dog training site was spurred by people who used the Sterling Lake area, in Wadsworth, for dog sled training, said Mike Tully, superintendent of maintenance operations for the forest preserve. "Sterling Lake was incompatible for that use, so the forest preserve started looking for an alternative to the leash law."

The preserve built the site in the '70s, initially for dog training, but the site has evolved into a dog play area. Hallwas said there still are people who use the site for training, such as obedience and pointing, and sometimes the mixed uses tend to compete with each other. It is hoped the extra sites will ease those conflicts.

One thing is certain: If the Libertyville site's popularity is any indication, dog owners and their canine companions will welcome the new sites.

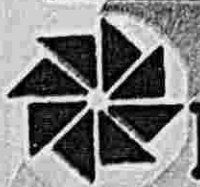

Wildwood resident Kim Uhlir, said her Rottweiler, Zeljka, is always enthusiastic about spending time at the dog play area.

"I say 'park' and she knows exactly where we're going," said Uhlir. "She starts running in circles, because she knows 'park' means here."

'If you zone it, they'll come and build it to the maximum amount allowed'

Pamela Newton, Chairman, Lake County planning, zoning committee

ANTIOCH PUBLIC LIBRARY DISTRICT

757 N. Main Street

Antioch, IL 60002

Whither Lake County?: Learning from the past for the future

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE
Editor in Chief

With more than 20 percent of its buildable open space left for development, Lake County has a chance to ensure growth is better managed in its final phases. The population of Lake County is forecasted to increase by 25 percent by the year 2010.

The townships of Grant, Fremont and Wauconda are the most likely sites for new homes.

"Those townships are poised for the greatest surge in development because the land is affordable and available," said Pam Newton, chairman of the Lake County Board committee on planning and zoning.

If the Northern Illinois Plan Commission's (NIPC) population forecast is accurate, by the year 2010, Lake County will be home to 640,700 people, just slightly larger than DuPage County's 1990 population. Lake County is the fourth largest of the six collar counties.

NIPC makes a forecast by interviewing municipal representatives, comparing birth rates, life expectancy and migration trends.

As of 1992 figures, there were 58,799 acres of uncommitted buildable land for future development. This represents approximately 21 percent of Lake County's total acreage of approximately 292,000.

Newton is spear-heading the completion of a united development ordinance, which will lay down ground work for future land use in Lake County and regulate open space and preservation of natural resources.

"Land is our most precious natural resource," Newton said. "We are trying to learn from our past and from decisions made in other regional areas what not to do in terms of development."

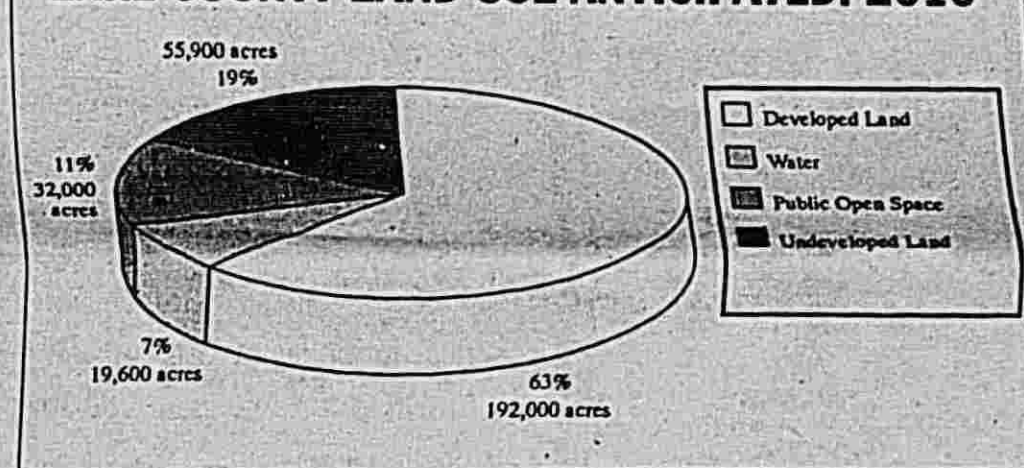

The united development ordinance has been nearly 18 months in the planning and public hearings are set to begin this summer.

The county planning and zoning committee will take the public approval process a step further by sharing it with municipalities through the public hearing process and encouraging them to adopt similar guidelines.

Newton began the first step in

WHITHER LAKE COUNTY?
First in a four-part series

LAKE COUNTY LAND USE ANTICIPATED: 2010

this process by bringing together the nine umbrella groups to discuss real solutions to the problems associated with growth.

Through the regional planning commission, which involves representatives from throughout Lake County, the committee hopes to spread their message that development must be planned and monitored.

"Last year, 90 percent of the housing development in Lake County was in the municipalities, only 10 percent occurred in unincorporated Lake County," Newton said. "If we have a great plan and don't share it with the municipalities, then we all lose. We have to drastically and dramatically change

Teenagers unite as volunteers: 'One day I might need help'

By RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Volunteering.

The word has been making headlines this week, from the Presidential summit in Philadelphia to the GOP proposal pending in Congress which would mandate eight-hours of volunteerism monthly for public-aid recipients.

Youth United, a United Way sponsored volunteer organization for high school students, spent the first Sunday of May planting flowers with senior citizens from Maplehurst Shared Senior Housing in Zion.

The volunteer organization has 29 members and has been in existence since 1988.

"I like to see people smile," said Jeanne Franklin, a Grayslake resident who is a junior at Carmel High School. "When you help them out, they really smile. We are so fortunate, we have to help others who don't have as much. One day it might be me who needs help."

Franklin became involved with Youth United through her friend, Brie Zabor of Mundelein. Zabor is also a junior at Carmel High.

"It seems more like fun than work to me," Zabor said. "I think you get back what you put into the community."

Warren Township High School sophomore Andrea McEsky of Wadsworth has helped with virtually every project Youth United has done since joining in November.

DEVELOP: Lake County learns from past for the future the philosophy of land use or there won't be any thing left to protect. Our intent is to plan the best possible land use for Lake County."

Newton says what makes the new unified development ordinance workable is by learning from the past, the committee has searched for ways to regulate growth and zoning.

"If you zone it, they'll come and build it to the maximum amount allowed," said Newton. "We have learned that. Our committee has consulted with the state's attorney to find a way to regulate zoning as tightly as possible so we end up with a balance of open space and controlled density in development.

In the past, people were rightfully concerned about developer's rights and the laws which give them the right to develop land within the zoning classifications, we are working to regulate zoning and development within the letter of the law to make it more beneficial for everyone."

Newton says the growth experienced in Lake County in the last decade and the increasing public knowledge about the county's soil and natural resources have led the way for tighter zoning rules.

"Lake County today is better educated to do a better job," Newton said. "We recognize we don't have all the answers. Lake County is a work in progress."

"It is like a Grayslake man wrote to me last week, its not growth we object to, its how it looks," Newton said. "It's ugly, its unplanned and he's right."

Next week: In part two of Whither Lake County, we will examine Lake County's natural resources, what is left, what should be protected and what has been lost.

Coming

Week 2: Natural Resource- What is left; what should be preserved, what has been lost.

Week 3: Economic development: Is growth necessary? What are the economic impacts of growth on municipal services, schools? How does growth benefit us?

Week 4: Solutions. Developing better in the future, how to reach compromises, how to balance land use.

Billie and Bill Chabino of Fort Wayne, Ind. enjoy the thrill of the Drop Ride. Some 99 couples were married during the Six Flags Great America promotion on the Drop Ride, the park's newest attraction. A day-long rain did not prevent the festivities.

Drop ride hair-raising way for couples to begin married life

By STEVE PETERSON

Derek Rousseau and his wife, April met four months ago courtesy of radio station US 99.

On a drizzly day in Gurnee, they entered married bliss as one of 99 couples to take the plunge on the 227-foot tower ride "Drop Ride" at Six Flags Great America. "We were going to have a big ceremony," Rousseau, with his bride April Turner standing beside, said.

Rousseau, age 24, works in construction while April is 22 years old. The couple is from Fox Lake.

Mike Patterson and his wife T The Rev. Cliff Herring, following instructions, told couples to always trust each other, forgive each other and stand by each other in good times and bad.

Then it was off to the Drop Ride and some non-traditional wedding ceremony reactions. Red-faced couples got off the ride after a few seconds, some stumbling to regain their balance.

They came from throughout the Midwest to christen the ride for the theme park's 21st year.

One couple, Billie and Bill Chabino of Fort Wayne, Ind. needed the assistance of Lake County Clerk Willard Helander.

"They needed some help with their wedding permit. We were more than happy to help them. Then they asked us if we wanted to be part of the wedding party because they did not have family here but had tickets," Helander said.

Helander was on hand to wish the couple well. The couple is originally from Nashville, Tenn. and Bill stood out from the crowd with his black hat.

people have it worse than me," McEssy said. "When I get old, I hope people will help me out like this."

McEssy wrapped Christmas gifts with Big Brothers/Big Sisters, worked in the PADS soup kitchen, assisted disabled children attending a carnival and has played basketball with the residents at Lambs Farm.

"I just really enjoy volunteer work," she said.

Maplehurst resident Ed Rembac, 83, said he enjoys meeting the youth that volunteer to help out at Maplehurst.

"I think it is good for them to have something else to do, something different," he said. "We always enjoy having people come around."

Resident James Moore said the young people are learning something useful in helping them plant marigolds around the yard.

"When they have homes of their own, they'll know how to plant a garden in the spring. The flowers will bring them happiness," Moore said.

Carmel freshman Kelly Groen,

15, participated in her first Youth United project Saturday.

"I thought volunteering with Youth United would be a good way to meet kids my own age and to help others," Groen said.

Youth United coordinator Sue Mitchell of the United Way said the group has chosen Catholic Charities as their "Agency of the Year" and will complete four service projects for the agency this year.

"The students pick their own projects and each year chose an agency of the year," Mitchell said. "They learn a great deal from volunteering. It is an opportunity for them to meet people and work and socialize in different settings. The energy they have is phenomenal."

Lynette Upham, resident manager of Maplehurst, said the home always welcomes volunteers to help out.

"This has been a great intra-generational project," she said. "The kids learn from the seniors and the seniors learn from them."

Maplehurst is a Catholic Charities run home.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

IEPA restricts development

Wauconda—The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has placed the Village of Wauconda on restricted status as of May 3.

"We will not allow any further development in town until such a time when they get their problems corrected," said Roger Calloway, IEPA manager for the wastewater compliance monitoring unit. "The problems were are concerned about are the bypasses and overflows (of the Wauconda Wastewater Treatment Plant)."

Wauconda Trustee David Wanshek said he anticipated the IEPA's action. "I don't look at it necessarily as a bad thing," he said. "I think, in a way, it is good, as it relieves the pressure of building in areas that need to be repaired."

Ex-employees plead guilty

Waukegan—The guilty pleas entered May 2 by Bette Siegel and her daughter, Cayce Siegel, two of the defendants in the case involving the alleged misuse of Warren Township Highway Dept. funds is an important step, prosecutors say. Bette, a former employee of the assessor's office and Cayce, a former secretary, agreed to testify against the remaining defendants if asked as part of a plea bargain agreement with Lake County State's Attorney's office announced in Judge Stephen Walter's court. The Siegels are charged with using $100,000 of township funds to purchase personal items such as home equipment. In 1994 and 1995, according to prosecutors, Cayce Siegel is charged with agreeing to destroy evidence which documented a ghost payroll scheme in a meeting which included former Highway Commissioner Frank Thomas, who died Jan. 7. Two official misconduct charges against her were dismissed. Thomas had been charged with misuse of highway department funds.

PTA is becoming endangered

Beach Park—Anita Riley, PTA president of Beach Park District 3 and Donna Macki, PTA vice president, had big hopes for the district's PTA but had a hard time making them materialize due to lack of volunteers. Now with both their terms ending and no one to step into their shoes they are fretting that the group may have to dissolve.

"I'm hoping if someone steps up we'll get something going," Riley said.

She and Macki tried to drum up support by making booklets explaining what the PTA does and passing out fliers looking for volunteers at the start of the school year but it didn't bring in many volunteers. Money isn't the problem she noted it's manpower.

Mayor declares staffing changes

Fox Lake—Former trustee and newly-elected Mayor Jim Pappas has directed changes in personnel in the positions of building commissioner and village collector.

Pappas: Makes staffing changes

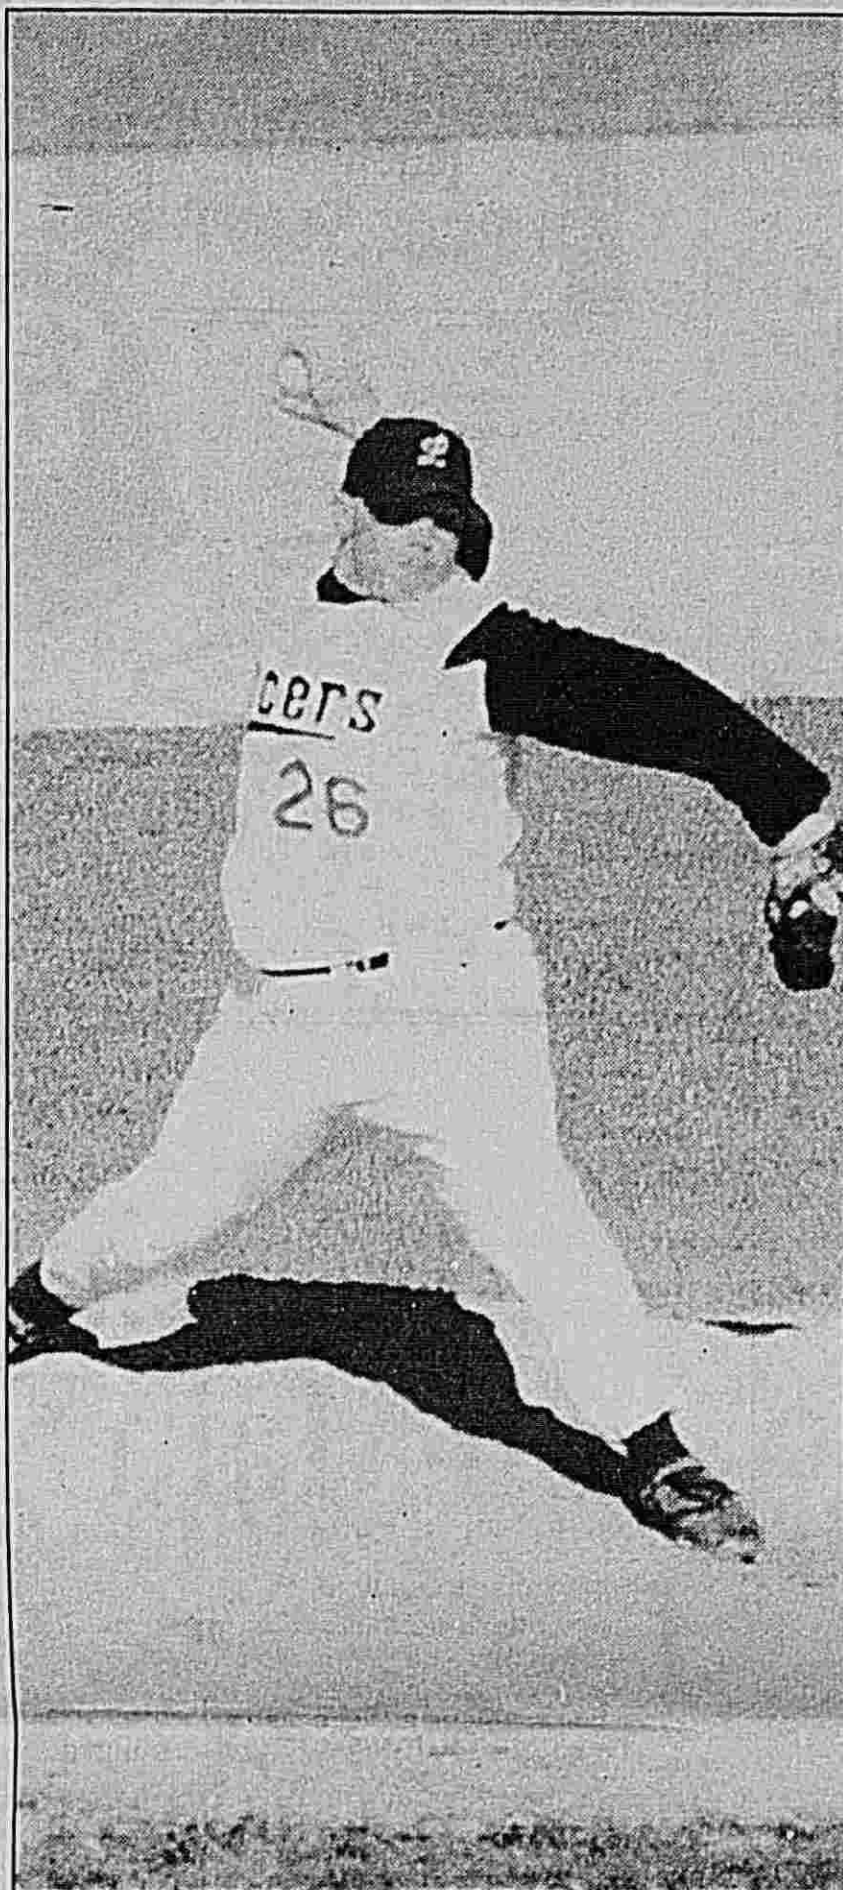

As part of a 30-day review process of departments promised in his slate's campaign platform, Pappas confirmed made interim confirmation of present department heads with the exception of Building Commissioner Ken Buchardt and Collector and former Clerk Sue McNally. Pappas said neither decision was "personal" in nature. He appointed former building commissioner and trustee candidate Dan Jakes to replace Buchardt while Clerk Cindy Volez will fill-in for McNally with no compensation until an interview process is completed for a new employee.

Voters may support 2nd campus

Libertyville—A second survey by the Libertyville High School Board of Education indicates more than half of those surveyed support the construction of a second, four-year high school despite cost and location considerations. Voters might be asked to consider a possible referendum as early as November to alleviate the overcrowding problem at the school. The survey used a random, anonymous phone calls as the method to gather the data.

That was the basis for creating Mother/Daughter T-Ball, a non-competitive league for mothers and their daughters ages 3 to 6.

"Sometimes mothers and daughters sit on the sideline a lot and watch father and son play little league," said Thursday Moore, Ela YMCA program director.

Watkins named police chief

Antioch—Deputy Chief Charles Watkins will take on the top assignment for the Antioch Police Department, May 16. Mayor Marilyn J. Shineflug appointed the 20-year department veteran to the post at Monday's village board meeting. Police Chief Charles Miller, a 30-year veteran of the force, recommended Charles Watkins be considered for the position in a letter to the Mayor. Mayor Shineflug appointed Deputy Chief Watkins, because he has demonstrated his ability to handle the department. He had the support of Chief Miller, and it continues a tradition of stability in the community's most sensitive job, she said.

Rte. 12 CPC in the works

Lake County—Five representatives of Lake County communities along Route 12 are getting together to see what can be done about controlling the growth along the corridor.

Mayors and elected officials from Lake Zurich, Hawthorn Woods, Kildeer, Deer Park, North Barrington and Lake County are all interested in forming a Route 12 Corridor Planning Council to control the growth that affects everyone down the line.

Communities submitted a zoning map or comprehensive plan to determine what each community has planned. "We want to match up and see where the conflicts are," Hawthorn Woods President John T. Clery said. "We need to figure out whether this committee could do any good."

Construction moratorium

Fox Lake—Citing a need to reevaluate planning in the village, the Fox Lake Village Board voted 4-2 to declare a one-year moratorium suspending new construction of multi-unit family dwellings.

The moratorium will effect the construction of duplexes, townhomes, condominiums and apartment buildings which have not already received final plat approval by the Village Board. Pappas defended the sudden announcement of the measure as an effort to avoid "a flood of potential developments" attempting to be grandfathered into the village prior to the ordinance taking effect.

Condell coming to village

Lake Villa—Condell Medical Center officials are pursuing a medical office site in the village.

If approved, it would be the first time a major medical provider set up shop in the village limits. The company is interested in building an office for physicians and specialists at the intersection of routes 83 and 132.

The move would bring them closer to their mission of bringing medical services closer to their patients. Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo said the company brings a needed service to meet the village's "changing demographics. Condell wants to construct a 15,000 square foot facility on a 2-acre parcel. They hope to open the building in early 1998.

Village supports schools

Round Lake Park—Round Lake Park trustees approved a resolution supporting more state funding for public schools.

The resolution was moved forward by Mayor Ila Bauer, a former teacher and administrator for the Round Lake School District for 28 years.

Bauer said she hopes this effort will help convince legislators they need to provide more funding for schools.

NICASA women's program awarded $50,000 grant

The Chicago Tribune Holiday Fund of the Robert R. McCormick Tribune Foundation has presented a $50,000 grant to the Women and Children's Center of the Northern Illinois Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse (NICASA).

The funds will be used to support child abuse prevention services at center, according to Judy Fried, NICASA's executive director.

"We are so grateful to the Tribune for supporting this program," Fried said. "The federal demonstration grant that funded the start-up of the program ended Sept. 30, but we have secured private funding to ensure continuation for at least one year. It means so much to have the support of the Tribune and other private funders."

In addition, NICASA has obtained the support of public officials who have pledged to help generate additional government funding, Fried said.

Located at 2031 Dugdale Ave.,

North Chicago, the center provides intensive day treatment for substance-abusing women who live in poverty. While the mothers are in treatment, their children receive care from trained professionals at the center.

Pam Thompson, the center's director, said staff members and other experts from collaborating agencies address the special issues of the women, including domestic violence, hopelessness, victimization, racism and sexual abuse.

Program components include parenting, skill building, outreach, transportation services and training in nutrition.

The center received high marks from University of Illinois researchers in an evaluation for the federal Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT), which provided the initial funding.

Researchers for the university's Center for Prevention, Research and Development commended the program for its success in treating substance-abusing women and helping them move from the welfare rolls to the workforce.

"We've had 11 women come off of welfare. That's remarkable," Thompson said. "Women don't want to be on public aid."

Fried said, "our program has demonstrated that even women who have been addicted to cocaine for 20 years and reliant on the welfare system can become self-sufficient."

Commuter rail future bright

In a scant six months, success of Metra's North Central mid-county service has not only been assured, but offers a future so enticing that talks have begun for procuring a second track.

Commuter traffic on the single-track Wisconsin Central line linking Antioch to a connection point at Franklin Park for direct Chicago service has reached 3,000 per day and is increasing weekly. Metra officials, laying their plans before the U.S. Senate's subcommittee on transportation, have set needs for the North Central upgrade and two other metro areas at $300 million. Now the lobbying can begin in earnest.

The value and convenience of North Central service has become ingrained so quickly that students of Carmel High School, for example, are able to board at Antioch, Lake Villa and Round Lake Beach for the short ride to Mundelein. And they gladly are hiking the mile or so from the train station to school. Just think what the Carmel grads will be able to tell their grandchildren about the "hardships of youth."

We hope politicians take to heart the success of commuter rail. There's more to public transportation than building a duplicative tollway through the heart of Lake County.

Fruitless to argue with good sense

Little by little, public officials are getting the message that it's costly to fool with Mother Nature. Where should this lesson be more evident than grow-happy Lake County, where every new rooftop adds to potential flooding hazards?

Members of the Gurnee Elementary School board of education unanimously approved the demolition and rebuilding of Viking School, located on a flood plain near the banks of the DesPlaines River. Viking School is threatened whenever the DesPlaines goes on a rampage. In taking that action, officials had to scuttle a plan approved by voters in April to remodel and build an addition to the 75-year-old school used by 7th and 8th graders.

The school architect said complying with new federal and county flood-plain elevation standards would have cost as much as a new school. So the ticket reads: a new Viking School on high and dry ground. Who's to argue? School officials are taking sensible steps.

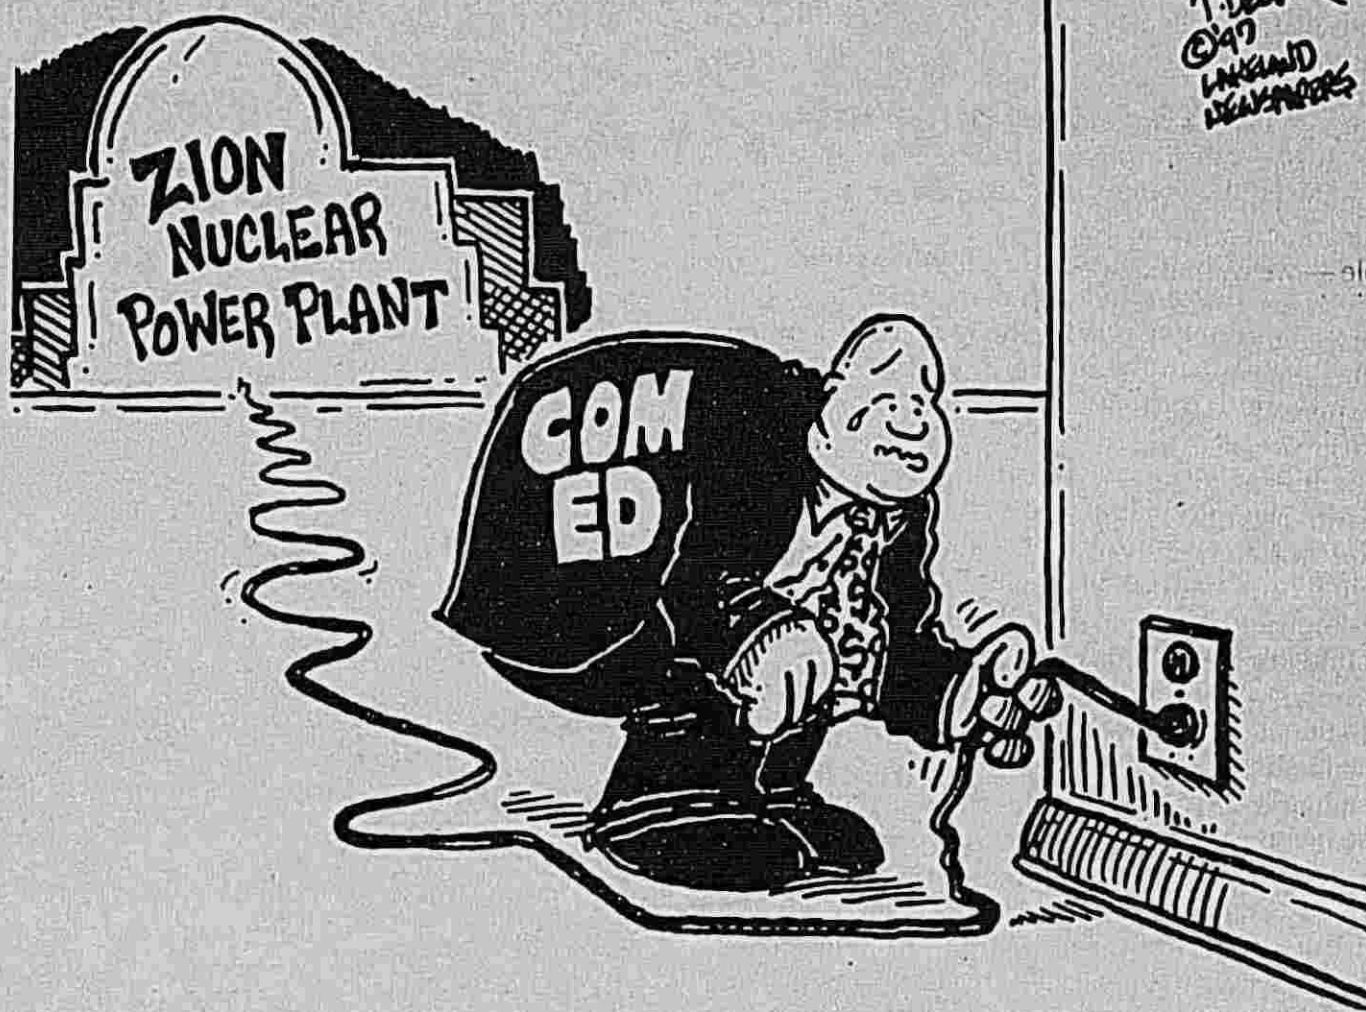

High tech voting a bust

After a somewhat confusing and amusing experiment with telephonic "attendance" at a village board meeting in Vernon Hills, providing for an elected official to take part in an official governmental meeting through the technology of teleconferencing isn't likely to catch on.

Trustee Rich Cashman was in Florida on business; his vote was considered critical on a question of approving a controversial self-storage business. Not to worry. Cashman could "participate" via telephone. Village Atty. Bernard Citron came up with legal precedents for a land wire hookup.

Technologically, the electronic link worked like a charm. Procedurally, however, the experiment was a bust. Cashman abstained on most matters, barely speaking during the meeting. Trustees Cindy Hebda and Thom Koch, who opposed the novel arrangement, found absence overcome via electronics "cold" and unnecessary.

Citron allows that there might be restrictions before permitting telephonic attendance in the future. Government already is impersonal enough. What is not needed at council meetings are cardboard cutouts making Muzak-like pronouncements via a speaker phone. We much prefer elected officials in person, doing their own talking—and thinking.

VIEWPOINT

It's still showtime on Main Street, U.S.A.

There once was a time when the local movie house was a center piece of small town American life, maybe the biggest after church and school.

The Saturday afternoon matinee was a must for kids who could scrape up a quarter (10 cents for the show, 5 cents for an ice cream cone on the way home, a whole dime leftover for fun spending or the piggy bank). An infrequent trip to an evening show with mom and dad constituted "family entertainment" of that bygone era.

As the new owners of the shuttered Mundelein Cinema, Paul and Aggie Watkins are turning back a page in time as the pathway to family business success.

They are out to reaffirm the hometown movie house institution when the "local show" had a firm grip on the minds and hearts of all ages. Local theater operators were the best known citizens in town—often "mom and pop" to scores of kids, arbiters of local taste, on every civic committee, dispensers of discipline when the occasion demanded. Paul, a food service professional, and Aggie, a waitress, face a daunting assignment.

Lake County once was dotted with independently owned, locally operated movie houses. Communities that had a show were envied; boosters in towns without a local theater worked overtime to get one. A main street theater was a symbol of community success, like a MacDonald's is today.

BILL SCHROEDER

Some of the popular main street Lake County show houses have survived assaults of the mega-screen chains, television, cable, home videos and changing tastes of film fans. Continuing to offer quality entertainment at reasonable prices are such show houses as the venerable Catlow in Barrington and the ageless Deerpath in Lake Forest. There the late owner Joe Emma was an icon and his daughter, Rosemary, became so enthralled with motion pictures that she went to Hollywood, changed her name to Joan Taylor and became a movie star.

Joe and Marian Armondo were so popular as operators of the Towne Theater that Fox Lake residents elected Joe mayor. Antioch's cozy movie house is a throwback to another era, a firm link between the past and present. Zion has the Dunes. It was a sad day in Wauconda when the Elm closed. Grayslake with its Outdoor was a destination for generations of filmgoers and the launch point for Henry Rhyhan's successful theater chain now operated by two sons.

Your scribe's first movie viewing was at the old LaVilla Theater, located above the current Starbucks Coffee House, a walkup facility on Milwaukee Ave. that gave way in 1939 to the Liberty, built by eccentric millionaire Fred Dobe. At the time of its opening, the Liberty was mid-America's most modern motion picture theater, including smartly uniformed ushers and a knock out cashier.

In that era, kids were certain that projectionist Delmar Bock had the coolest job in town, showing movies and getting paid besides.

Paul and Aggie Watkins have their work cut out. Here's wishing them much success. Keep the popcorn popping!

It's easy to get hooked on 'Imus in the Morning'

Something many of us have in common each morning is a desire for "drive-time" information and entertainment. While commuting to work — or if we're fortunate enough to be fresh out of work and on our way to the fishing hole — we want the latest news and weather, and we often become loyal listeners of a radio personality who appeals to us.

That's where we may differ, because there are dozens of stations and personalities from which to choose. In our own house and cars we have gone through a few of them, but in recent months instead of the well-known Chicago people we have found ourselves hooked on Don Imus.

"Imus in the Morning" is a New York radio talk show syndicated in 95 cities, including WISN in Milwaukee. It's now also being sold around the country as early-morning television. Locally, it can be found from 5 to 8 a.m. on MSNBC Cable.

A radio show being televised? Uh huh, and it works. The banter of Imus and his supporting cast is more hip than anything happening in drive-time Chicago.

The priggish should be warned that the Imus crew often engages in off-color wisecracks and coarse comedy. "Even so," wrote Frazier Moore of the Associated Press, "loyal listeners know the I-man is, at heart, a pussycat with radio's most entertaining scratching post."

THE PFARR CORNER

Current Biography did Imus' life story last year. It said, "Imus, 56, has made a long career out of ribald humor, personal insults and cultural satire. While Imus was once known primarily for his cantankerousness and irreverence (and to some degree still is) in the 1990s he began venturing into more serious political and social commentary."

Here are a few of the insults Imus hurled on recent shows:

He called Barbara Streisand, "That screaming shrew."

He called the teen-age country-western singing prodigy LeAnn Rimes, "Fat, little pig-eyed LeAnn Rimes."

About White House spokesman Mike McCurry, Imus said: He's a mealy-mouthed, hair-rake-over doofus. I hate him."

After interviewing former Labor Secretary Robert Reich, Imus said, "I thought he had an attitude. I should have taken a rubber hose and smacked the little dummy."

Imus' leer suggests he is acting nasty on the outside while laughing on the inside. He can be equally warm about people he likes.

Time magazine recently pictured him on its cover along with Rosie O'Donnell, Tiger Woods, Colin Powell and Madeleine Albright as five of the 25 most influential people in America.

Imus' response: "Get real. Has the country gone to hell or what?"

Time said, "The craggy-faced, curly-haired, cello-voiced Imus translates stodgy politics into vital popular culture."

I came across him 14 months ago when he was the speaker at the Radio and Television Correspondents dinner in Washington, televised by C-SPAN.

With President and Mrs. Clinton seated at the head table, Imus began his routine with a stab at Mrs. Clinton's involvement in the White-water affair. Hillary's smile turned stone-faced.

Imus then joked about the president's alleged marital infidelity, shocking many in the audience.

Media reaction in ensuing days ranged from protests that Imus had gone "beyond the pale" to reminders that if you hire him as a speaker you should realize what to expect.

Imus remembers it as the night he "flopped-sweated all over the president." There's nothing quite as intimidating, he says, than having the president of the United States glaring at you from a few feet away.

Imus now regrets having continued with his perhaps tasteless routine after his first few jokes bombed.

His radio colleagues needle Imus mercilessly about being married to a woman 25 years his junior: Deirdre Coleman, an aspiring actress.

"She's already practicing wiping the oatmeal off my chin," he says.

Larry King, interviewing Imus on television the other night, said, "Tell me about that marriage."

"I wasn't running around looking for a younger woman," Imus said. "But I fell in love with her. She's interesting, funny and smart. What was I supposed to do?"

"I don't want to sound sexist, but she has a guy's sense of humor, you know?"

"Is it true you rescued her?" King asked. "She was being accosted and you rescued her?"

Imus hesitated, then said, "Yes, she was being accosted by local toughs..."

"And you rescued her?" King said. "You took them on alone?"

Imus shrugged. "I pulled my gun on them, is all."

PARTY LINES

Animal activists promise 'rough ride' for rodeo supporters

Must be getting close to summer. Animal rights activists are gearing up for their annual attack on the Wauconda Rodeo. Greg Campbell of Barrington promises "the roughest ride yet" for the 1997 event.

Campbell

says attempts to silence the protesters have "energized our resolve." The rightists are out to "not only stop the cruelty, but... expose the criminals within the Lake County 'law enforcement' system." Sheriff Gary DelRe will be a major target.

DelRe: "Likely target of animal rights activists"

Summer vacancy

Ela Township Trustee Henry Eickelberg may leave the township later this summer due to a job transfer, which would open up a vacancy on the township board. Eickelberg has served for three years after his appointment to fill a vacancy, and was reelected on April 1. He told Township Supervisor Robert L. Grever of his plans, but has yet to submit anything in writing.

Unanimous support

Former Lake Zurich trustee and one time Lake County Board candidate Jim Johnson offered the following comment while attending the May 5 Lake Zurich Board of Trustees meeting: "For the first time in eight years we have a group that is going to work together."

That is to say, all the trustees support Mayor Jim Kirschke.

Making friends

Lake County Board Member Pam Newton (Dist. 18-Vernon Hills) is pleased with the way her open forum approach to the planning and zoning committee is working out.

"I gave Kim Eudy a call the other day, because she hasn't been attending committee meetings," Newton said. Eudy is a well-known citizen activist who records most county meetings.

"I've learned a lot from Kim," said Newton. "We need to have partnerships, with citizens like Kim, to bring positive change to Lake County."

Legislator of the year

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) has racked up another accolade. She received the Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Illinois (AIM-IL) 1997 Legislator of the Year award at the 13th annual AIM-IL meeting in Lisle, May 3.

Gash is the chief sponsor of House Bill 111, which led the fight for mental health insurance in the Illinois House.

Trade not aid

Illinois Congressman Phil Crane (R-8th Dist.) has introduced a bill establishing a U.S. policy which promotes a path from dependence on U.S. aid to economic self-reliance for countries in Africa which are committed to economic and political reform.

Crane, chairman of the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Trade, told the media "this is the first step in replacing aid with trade."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Is turf battle too complex to resolve?

As a former trustee of the Countryside Fire Protection District (1980-1992), I have followed the Vernon Hills-Countryside turf battle very closely and would like to offer my thought on the subject in hopes that the final resolution does not leave one side or the other with permanent damage.

Vernon Hills Officials' efforts to form a municipal fire department are undoubtedly rooted in frustration over their lack of control of services overseen by most other communities such as the fire department, the park district, the water and sewer department, etc. The inability to manage the details of citizen services is disconcerting to officials elected by their citizens to generally oversee quality of life issues. This is a natural tendency. It is also base issue.

Although there has been high praise for Country Fire Protection District's (CFPD) service in the village, the municipal issue has eroded the relationship between Vernon Hills and Countryside officials. This is most unfortunate since both bodies are basically in the same business. The main problem is that both sides see a different mandate. On one hand, Countryside trustees see their job as preserving the district's tax base and acting in the best interest of the whole district. On the other hand, Vernon Hills trustees are elected by their residents and aren't interested in the rest of the fire district. Both positions are inherent by nature.

Vernon Hills Trustees see an opportunity to get into the fire business by using a fire tax abatement scheme to sell the idea to residents. The "home rule" issue is the key to paving a win for their home team. If home rule powers are given to the Village of Vernon Hills they can raise local sales tax by 1/2 percent and add $3 million of income to their coffers. Voila. "A chicken in every pot," free money, or a revenue stream for a municipal Fire Department. Now what's wrong with that?

Like all good plans, it's not that simple. The difficulties are complex. The scenario described delivers a crippling blow to the fire district. Aside from eliminating two thirds of the fire district's net tax base, a municipal shell causes CFPD to become a contract service provider for the village of Vernon Hills. This puts CFPD in competition with all other such service providers. Village trustees would then be in a position to control the market place and drive down service costs which would adversely affect the quality of equipment, manning standards, training, and ancillary services for the entire fire district.

Countryside trustees recognize that they have a high mandate to preserve the district resources and are standing on high moral ground here. To act in concert with anything that would adversely affect the whole district would be a clear conflict of interest. Unfortunately, a conflict in perceived missions, on both sides, has created some personal feelings that drives a wedge between governmental bodies.

It appears that no middle ground has been recognized as viable, therefore each side will struggle to prevail unless a commonality of mission becomes recognized. Is there a greater good?

Dress code endorsed

The president thinks school children should wear a uniform type of dress. I don't see how this could possibly be politically motivated as most of the children and parents alike will probably protest at least at first. However, as a parent and grandparent, I'd like to voice my feelings on the matter: There are several good reasons why this would be a positive move, not withstanding the remark he made about "poor" children wanting to look like everyone else. (He obviously was never a poor child with that problem or he would not treat the issue in such a cavalier fashion).

1. Reduce clothing costs: three sets or so will cost less than some of the items worn by kids these days not to mention the $60 to $80 tennis shoes kids demand and get.

2. Reduce or eliminate clothing competition.

3. Remove gang clothing and color influence.

4. Eliminate the possibility of skimpy, suggestive, too tight or too baggy clothing.

5. Allow kids to concentrate on their studies and not on each other.

6. Reduce theft of expensive, desirable sports items, jackets, sneakers, etc.

7. Finally it will remove another problem for the educators so they can do their job and not have to discipline in these matters. Such a code of dress will serve as an equalizer if you will.

This subject has been discussed at length by many of my contemporaries (grandmas) and see it as a solution for a problem that ultimately affects all of us, and perhaps some kids and some parents will not like it at first, but after all, isn't it the duty of us all to do the most effective thing for our youth whether in school or out of it?

Clock running on reform

As a teacher in our public schools and a taxpayer, I voted last fall for legislators who vowed to fight this spring for school funding reform in Illinois. From my point of view, little or nothing has yet been accomplished on this important issue thus far this session, and I, like many other voters, am still waiting for action with only a few weeks of the spring session remaining. To my knowledge, not a single bill has even been filed on this important subject, although a bill prohibiting human cloning seems to be moving right along.

I strongly urge our local legislators to get the ball rolling soon on school funding reform. Don't leave this important issue in the hands of the legislative leaders, who have failed on every previous occasion to bring this issue to a vote. It may be a long way until the 1998 elections, but the voters will be watching very carefully over the next few weeks to see what our local legislators are doing to make a difference. Our schools, and most importantly, our school children, deserve action and not more rhetoric on this important issue.

Worst kind of politics

Vernon Hills officials have attempted to paint Countryside Fire Dist. as wasting about $1,000,000 and various other untruths and have attacked the chief and the trustees publicly, yet they demand notification.

Someone should ask Pam Newton, Roger Byrne, Don Hook, et al, why nobody notified the residents of Stone Fence Farms, Sugar Creek or Corporate Woods that they were going to sue all of us and waste about $1,000,000 of taxpayer money so far.

Newton and Hook for open government? Or if you don't back me, I don't back you? This is politics at its worst.

Keep high standards

In over 35 years of service to the Village of Grayslake attending hundreds of meetings, I have marveled at the even tenor and the consideration that has been shown to all citizens who have attended these meetings either as petitioners or interested observers. I have sometimes been a "minority of one" voting at the meetings, and my views as well as those others expressing dissent have always been received with courtesy and respect.

I sincerely hope that our Grayslake village officials will continue to maintain these high standards in carrying out the public trust the citizens have placed in them, in spite of the stresses and strains of our changing society.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

How to be gender smart

Last week, I discussed the importance of women as consumers. They dominate many market segments and are a primary influence in many others. More women are entering high-paying professional fields, and many women out-earn their spouses.

So how do you capitalize on this growing market? Here are some thought starters for improving your business batting average with women. These are not my ideas, but rather, those of companies whose marketing programs and policies are working.

How to reach female consumers

- Treat women with respect. Never assume that a female isn't the decision maker. Never talk down to a woman customer or ask if she wants to bring her husband in to okay the deal. It is also unwise to stereotype women as not technically adept just because they're female.

For example, Studebaker Motor Company actually published a manual that advised women to deal with a flat tire in the following manner: "Put on some fresh lipstick, fluff up your hairdo, stand in a safe spot off the road, wave and look helpless and feminine." You know what happened to Studebaker don't you?

- Give them information.

Women are more discerning today than ever before. However, most require reinforcement of facts before they become comfortable with a purchase decision. Community First National Bank in Fargo, ND, put together a series of informational luncheons to attract female customers. Women attending the free seminars learned about diversifying investments, teaching children to save and how to reach retirement goals. There were no bank commercials, just information.

- Give them value. Value is the relationship of price to quality and quantity. In a 1996 retail survey, more than 50 percent of women questioned reported that they buy their clothing "mostly on sale." However, the same survey reported that women are quite willing to "pay more for quality."

Therefore, your offering must be of measurable, observable quality if you are going to charge a higher price. Stay focused on the benefits in any marketing presentation. You'll not only need to give female customers good, usable information, but you'll also have to increase their perception of value.

- Market to women one at a time. It is a mistake to assume that the growing female market is homogeneous. You cannot use one-size-fits-all marketing philosophies. Women's needs vary greatly, and their demographics and psychographics are even more diverse than those of men. Any marketing program aimed at women that doesn't take their individualism to account is destined to fail.

- Keep your business clean and attractive. In retail businesses research shows that women are much more likely to respond positively to cleaner, warmer (more attractive) environments than men. However, a clean store with soft neutral colors is not likely to offend

Open house for recruit center set

Navy League offers tours of boot training

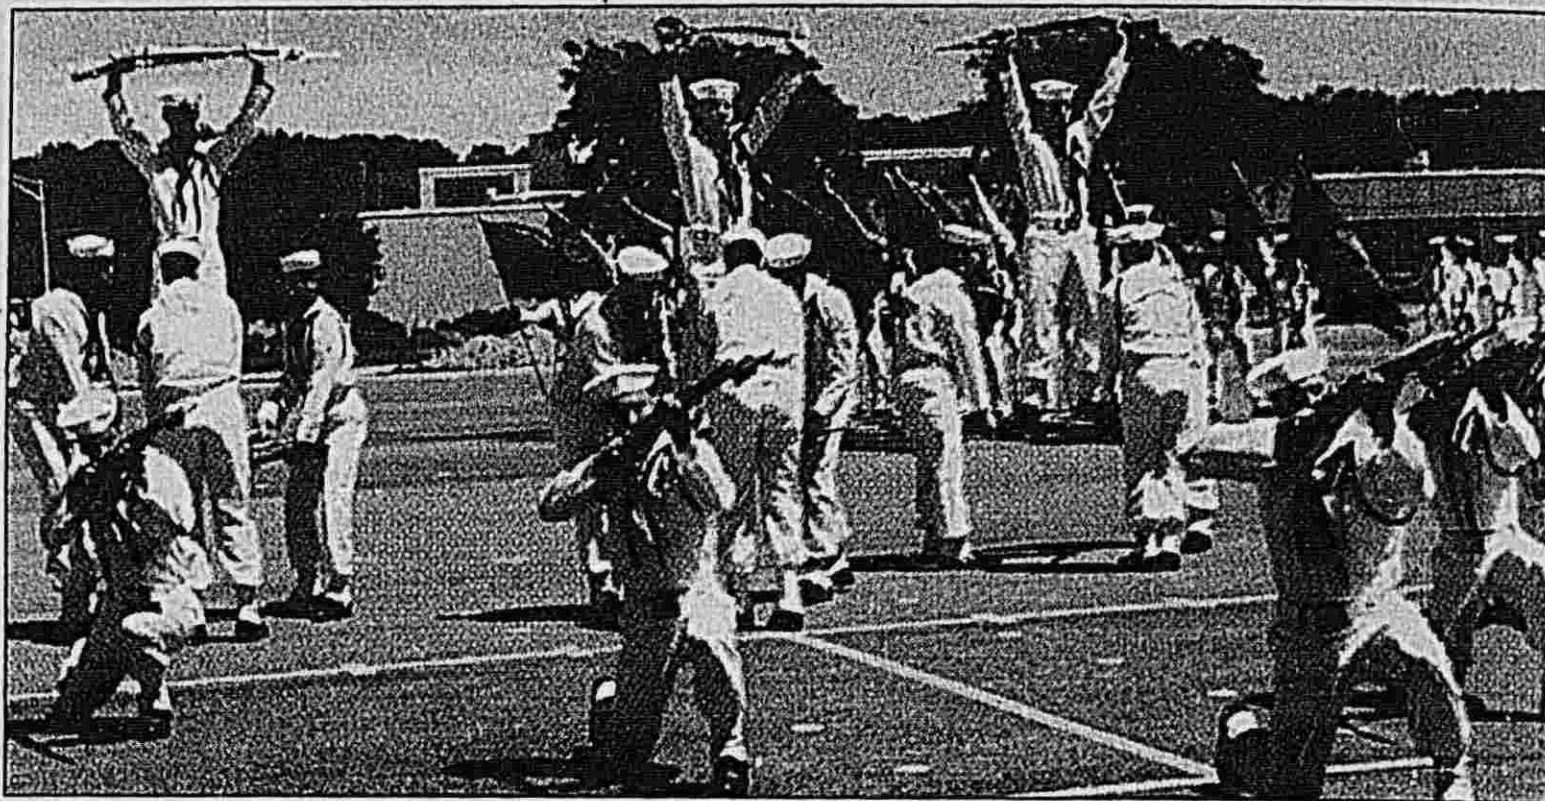

Lake County residents can get an "up front" look at recruit training at Naval Training Center Great Lakes during Friends of the Navy Night at 6:30 p.m., May 21.

The visitation, open to all interested persons, with no admission charge or reservations required, is being sponsored by the Lake County Council, U.S. Navy League, in conjunction with the Recruit Training Command, Great Lakes.

"This will be an excellent time for interested citizens to see how young Americans are being prepared for active Navy duty," stated William M. Schroeder, president of the Council, a civilian support organization.

Guests will be welcomed by Capt. Corey Whitehead, RTC commander. Captain Whitehead is arranging escorted tours of the Recruit Training Command located on Buckley Road east of Green Bay Road. There will be ample parking for visitors.

Adm. Mack Gaston (Ret.), former Great Lakes commandant, has been invited to address visitors and assembled Navy League members.

Schroeder said the short program and tour time will be a convenient opportunity for Lake County business people serving the Navy community to get a first hand view of a significant part of Navy life at Great Lakes.

"Our program will be brief to allow time for the tours and a social period. Great Lakes has a huge impact on the economy of Lake County. It is important that our business community has first-hand information of what goes on at Great Lakes," Schroeder declared.

The Lake County Tourism Council is assisting with arrangements.

A Safe Place wins top award

State lauds county crisis center for outstanding victim assistance program

A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center received the first place award for Outstanding Community-based Program from the Illinois Attorney General's Violent Crime Victims Assistance Program. The award is given to a victim assistance program whose record of advocacy and services is consistently exemplary.

A Safe Place won the statewide competition for its model court advocacy program at the Safe Room in the Lake County Courthouse.

More than 1,400 Lake County victims of domestic violence last year found reassurance, encouragement and help through what seemed an overwhelming court process in the Safe Room.

"The personal support Safe Room advocates provide to victims is essential to successful prosecution of domestic violence cases," said Lake County State's Atty. Michael Waller.

The Safe Room's services are, indeed, critical. A victim taking legal action against her abuser feels frightened, alone and intimidated by legal proceedings. However, once in the Lake County Courthouse, court personnel direct her immediately to the first floor Safe Room near the domestic violence courtroom.

In the Safe Room, a trained advocate takes time to listen to her story and offers support, encouragement, education about domestic violence and vital referral information. Victim and advocate discuss the options available, enabling the woman to make informed decisions about legal steps necessary to secure the level of protection she needs.

Barbara Paczut, coordinator of advocacy services for A Safe Place, is a former attorney and domestic violence counselor. Paczut trains and coordinates volunteer advocates who staff the safe room from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

The majority of Safe Room clients file for orders of protection. Last year, safe room staff assisted 1,484 clients with the considerable paperwork involved. Advocates also accompany their clients into the courtroom and stand by their side as they apply for assistance. As advocates, they may offer explanations and support the women as they are questioned.

After the court decision, safe room advocates map out subsequent steps the client must take to ensure the enforcement of the judgment.

Chemical plant agrees to pay fine

Emco Chemicals commits to waste-reduction projects

In an agreement entered with the Illinois Pollution Control Board, a North Chicago chemical company committed to undertake two costly waste reduction projects and pay a $22,080 fine to settle a 1993 complaint filed by the attorney general.

The attorney general sued Emco Chemical Distributors, Inc., a chemical blending, packaging and distribution facility located at 2100 Commonwealth Ave., North Chicago, on Oct. 7, 1993 for air pollution, water pollution and operating permit violations.

The company allegedly emitted volatile organic materials, considered a hazardous air pollutant, into the atmosphere and created a water pollution hazard.

The Consent Decree details the steps Emco has taken to settle the complaint. In addition to fine and corrective measure already taken to come into compliance, the company will design and implement two supplemental environmental projects, or SEPs. SEPs are environmentally beneficial ventures undertaken by companies facing large fines for alleged environmental violations.

The costs of these projects, which Environmental Protection Agency guidelines state "must improve, protect, or reduce risks to public health or the environments at large," are then considered when fines are assessed.

"Supplemental environmental projects return something to the community," said Atty. General Ryan. "Fines are necessary to provide the economic incentive to follow the law, but SEPs add an element of environmental justice to the settlement process. The affected community gets something positive in return."

In the first project, Emco will install five new pumps in the facility's chemical dispensing lines. The new pumps will reduce the frequency that the lines must be flushed, decreasing the amount of hazardous waste that must be disposed by an estimated 10 percent annually. The new pumps cost approximately $87,000.

Emco's second project, the installation of an ozonation/peroxidation system, is designed to more effectively decontaminate the treated waste water discharged from the facility to the North Shore Sanitary Dist. Injecting ozone and hydrogen peroxide into the waste water continuing hazardous substances, such as methyl ethyl ketone, methylene chloride, toluene and xylene, chemically oxidizes them into a safer form.

A pilot test of the system, which costs an estimated $151,000 indicated a substantial reduction of these pollutants in the waste water.

Cellular industry is striking back

Beset by security issues during the past several years, the cellular communications industry is striking back with a series of new security features designed to reduce theft and improve privacy. According to Michael DeBates, president of Pace Communications Services Corp., Cellular One Communications is blazing the trail to a new, more secure industry with improvements designed to calm customer concerns. The new features are designed to improve theft of services by 95 percent and more.

"The public has heard many negative stories about using cellular phones," noted DeBates. There have also been numerous reports about "cloning" phone numbers and stolen services. The cellular industry is working hard and fast to correct these problems, and we're happy, to note there has been a great deal of progress!"

According to Cellular One, the entire Chicagoland cellular system has been retrofitted with effective anti-cloning technology. So far, so good, as the rate of theft of services has dropped over 95 percent. Much of the remaining 'cloning' involves customers using older cellular equipment. "All new cellular phones are equipped with the anti-cloning technology," continued DeBates. "Some of the early phones still present a problem so if someone has a phone more than two years old, they should have it checked by a reputable cellular dealer."

As for someone listening in on your cellular calls, new digital technology has reduced the risk to about the same level as it is for land lines. "There has been a tremendous amount of progress in digital technology," according to DeBates.

BRIEF NOTES

Applications being accepted

Resident applications for apartment leasing are now being accepted for Assisi Homes of Gurnee located at 3495 W. Grand Ave., Gurnee. This is a HUD subsidized Section 202 rental community for the elderly. Applicants must be 62 years of age with an income not exceeding 50 percent of the county median income. For an application or further information, call Sandra at (630) 462-9271, ext. 271 or TDD 1(800) 526-0857.

Lambs Foundation receives $7,500

The Lambs Foundation in Libertyville received a $7,500 grant from The Nalco Foundation for support of vocational training and placement programs. Lambs Farm provides full residential, vocational and social support services to 253 individuals with mental disabilities from its 70-acre sites.

In the first quarter of 1997, 47 nonprofit organizations were recipients of $290,006 from The Foundation. Funding is made by The Nalco Foundation to organizations that provide services in the areas of culture and the arts, education, civic and community affairs, and health. Since its inception in 1953, The Nalco Foundation has made grants totaling more than $30 million.

Filter Corp acquires Water Co.

United States Filter Corp. has completed the acquisition of United States Water Company, Inc. Based in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, U.S. Water operates 21 local sales and service operations in eight states primarily serving the water treatment needs of over 40,000 residential and commercial customers in the Midwest. Locally, U.S. Filter is located at 127 N. Main St., Wauconda, for residential services.

GENDER: Many women out-earn their spouses male customers. So having a spotless and attractive location is a win-win proposition.

• Hire female salespeople. Carolyn Verweyst, manager of marketing communications for Whirlpool Corp., believes hiring women for sales positions is smart.

"I think women like to buy from women," she said in a recent interview.

Electronics giant, Best Buy, works hard to hire more women. Their salespeople do not receive commissions and therefore are under less pressure to close the deal quickly and move on to the next customer. The women-to-women strategy may be most effective when working with the female customer who needs more truth and confidence before making a purchase decision.

In summary, I'd advise all businesses to respect the individual, treat every woman with courtesy, go slow in building a relationship of trust and always keep your promises. Becoming gender smart takes a little practice, but is mostly common sense.

Skender Construction breaks ground on townhome project

Skender Construction Co. has broken ground on a 70 unit luxury townhome project on a 8.5 acre in fill site in Mundelein. The townhomes are three levels with configuration options ranging from loft to four bedrooms with 2 1/2 to 3 1/2 baths. Unit sizes range from 2,050 to 2,200 square feet. Each unit features a two car attached garage with unique row house styling. Buildings are wood frame construction with combination of brick veneer, vinyl siding, and exterior insulation finish system exterior. Voy Madeyski Architects, Ltd. is the architect.

Skender Construction Co. is the construction manager hired by Diamond Pointe Development LLC to manage the development process which includes: procurement of zoning variances, coordinate building design, land planning and site development.

Skender Construction Co. will also manage the marketing and negotiate the development financing package. They will have full construction management responsibilities from site clearing to unit turnover.

Founded in 1955, Skender Construction Co. has a long history of quality construction experience in multi-residential, commercial, institutional, and public projects.

Skender's approach has earned the firm the American Institutes of Architect's Distinguished Project Award in 1995.

Skender Construction grew ten-fold in the period 1989-95. Its exceptional growth won the firm place on Inc. magazine's "Inc. 500" list of fastest growing private companies in America.

Some of Skender's most notable projects are: SOS Children's Village in Lockport; Romeoville Garden's Retirement Center; Wood Oaks Gymnasium addition in Northbrook; Village Hall Complex in North Barrington; and the Franciscan Village Coach homes in Lemont.

Everybody pays

In response to the school taxes, we need to remember that not only do people with kids have to pay, but for those who will be on fixed incomes from Social Security, those kids will be paying for it. What goes around, comes around. We need to support our schools.

Wake up

I think Grayslake Mayor Carey and Village Administrator Ellis have a lot of nerve pushing a pool and community center when we're trying to pay for new schools, a new library, and park district plans. This is not the time to increase our taxes. We shouldn't take on more debt, especially when it will cost $25 million. I want a Cadillac, but I told my wife I'll wait until our furniture is paid off.

Thanks, officers

I'd like to know why on Saturday, April 19, just after 11 p.m., the Round Lake Beach officer who was in charge found a barking dog complaint more important than the complaint of a DUI coming right through town. And thank you to the Lake Villa police officers for the arrest of that drunk driver. It probably saved someone's life.

Environment is cause

Floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, blizzards. These natural phenomena have been occurring since the beginning of time. It seems to me they're now a yearly occurrence. With no scientific background, it's my ever-increasing feeling that the destruction of the environment is the cause of these disasters. Did you know that Americans account for 10 percent of the world's population, yet we use 40 percent of all natural resources produced? We need to rethink our own consumption before we cut down all the trees, pave over the land, pollute the air, and mine all the natural resources. It all comes down to our personal habits and lifestyle. If we use it all up, there's going to be nothing left except hurricanes, floods, tornadoes, and blizzards.

Happy Birthday

Happy birthday to my brother, Larry Deapherage, who celebrated his 18th birthday on April 25! I love you, Larry!

Where's monitors?

Last fall the Village of Lake Zurich said they would be putting in noise monitors for low-flying jets. Where are they? They promised them to us and the city of Chicago has let us down again.

Friendly shopping?

This past Saturday, four friends that had not seen each other in quite awhile, met at Gurnee Mills to have a visit. One of the friends was from as far as Hayward, Wis., and drove seven hours straight to meet us all at 10 a.m. We were in the process of asking a total stranger to take a picture of all of us when a Gurnee Mills security officer drove by and said we were not allowed to take pictures on their property. We weren't even taking it in front of their doorway or a sign. What a nice gesture, Gurnee Mills. I guess it's time to shop at a friendlier mall.

Snobs, go back

I live in Silver Oaks and if you think you're moving into an area where everyone is nice, in the same boat financially, and you can do things with the kids, have block parties, and not be judged, you're sadly mistaken. All these snobs need to move back where the others live. Spring Grove, Vernon Hills, Lake Forest, or back to Chicago. Anywhere but our area. It's really sad. No wonder all the neighbors in this area of new construction have neighbor problems.

Shame on you

Shame on McDonald's for leaving literally thousands of children unhappy and upset. After waiting in line for almost an hour to get two Happy Meals for two small children who have no concept of greediness, we got to the counter and the lady before us had ordered 28 Happy Meals, leaving us and the children behind us with no toys for their Happy Meals. What is this world coming to?

Change it back

I'm calling from Lake Villa Township and our intersection at Grand Avenue and Route 83 has been changed. Going eastbound there is one lane going east and a left turn lane. Coming west, there's a left turn lane and two lanes going directly west. It works well for people coming westbound. Eastbound in the morning if there's no left-turners, then we have one lane that everybody's backed up in. I guess I'm of the opinion that the intersection worked for most people. We don't understand why it was fixed. It's very confusing. Yet we have an intersection at Grass Lake Road and Route 59 that could stand to be widened and improved. They keep trying and it's always less than agreeable. Who's designing these intersections and goofing them up, creating the gridlock? Why isn't there more input from towns or from people traveling these roads?

Enforce speed limits

One of the reasons many of the residents of Lake Zurich are angry at the village is that the speed limit is not being enforced on residential streets. In fact, we haven't seen the speed limit and radar done routinely on our street since Mayor Kay left office. It's about time taxpayers got their money's worth from the tax division.

Time to cooperate

I'm calling in response to all the stuff I've seen in Lipservice about the Grayslake Park District, etc. To the people of Grayslake, you think you elected a new park board and things are going to change. I'm sorry, but I doubt that it's going to happen. What you need to do is call Mayor Pat Carey and tell her and the village board that they need to get along with this new board. The only reason the park district is in the state it's in is due to uncooperation. The park district was locked out of developer donations, fees, etc. All we have is 2 percent tax that goes to the park district. Think about that. All your surrounding communities get at least 6 percent, some even more.

Be careful

I don't know if people are just lazy or they think because they live in Lake County, there's no crime. There's numerous times I've seen people drive into a mini-mart, and leave their car running while they walk in. Or women who shop in stores and leave their purses in the cart while they look at things. There's crime out here. You can't just leave your doors open. It's dangerous.

Get on politicians

I'm calling about all the stuff that's been in the paper about school funding. I'm tired of listening to the complaining. What you need to do is get on the politicians. It's not our problem to solve this. They need to charge the proper impact fees, education fees, and things like that so these schools can be built. It's outrageous that they come through here and make millions on these homes and just disappear. In three years, where are we? We need new schools, etc. Get on your town and village boards and do something about it.

Give pool to school

The last people in Grayslake to own and run a swimming pool should be the village government. First should be the high school. A close second, the park district. Is Mayor Carey and Village Administrator Ellis pushing both our teaching bodies around to get credit for this?

What's your agenda?

I'm in Lake Villa and I'm calling in regard to the projected development at the corner of Route 83 and Grand Avenue. Hey, mayor, what's your agenda? Is it tax revenue? That would be understandable if we could see it put to good use to improve our decrepit streets and sidewalks, and the sewer system our village screwed up.

Have you noticed?

I wonder if anyone noticed on the television that Gov. Edgar is running advertising spots to raise taxes to give money to public, private and city schools, a statewide tax hike for other schools other than suburban schools. Who's paying for that? Could this be a private interest thing? I think it is!

Let us know

I read in the Wauconda Leader that the Village of Wauconda reports an 88 percent increase in crime, mostly due to auto theft. It might help if Mayor Eschenbach and Police Chief Michael Green report this in the newspaper so people in this community can realize what's going on in their subdivisions. It also might help having additional officers on duty instead of just two on Friday and Saturday nights. I wonder if the town of 8,400 people realized they only put two police officers patrolling then.

Give us a choir

I'm reading Lipservice and someone thanked Wanda Shaefer for singing at St. Peter's. I wish she'd come to Transfiguration and sing for us. Everyone that sings is trying to be opera. Whatever happened to choirs? Why can't they have different grades sing in the choir on Sunday? There's four masses on Sunday, hundreds of kids at Transfiguration, and no choir.

Quit whining

I agree with the person who called in before saying that the seniors should quit whining about paying for education. Who do you think paid for your kids' educations? And don't tell me you don't have any kids, because not all of you are childless. It's just that now you've gotten cheap and since your kids are grown and don't come to visit you or give you money, you don't want to contribute to other kids. What a crock! Whose money do you think will be used for your Social Security checks? And Medicare? These little kids that you're so stingy with are going to be paying for that, and guess what? They probably won't even get Social Security because it won't exist when they need it! So I would quit whining if I were you. We're all in this together. I'll gladly pay whatever is needed to give our children a quality education and an edge in the competitive world.

'Thanks, Mom'

This Mother's Day I would like to give thanks to all the great Moms out there who do great things for their kids, expecting nothing in return but love. Great work, Moms!

HOT REAL ESTATE WAITING FOR YOUCLAUS

The Claus is designed for entertaining. The vaulted central living area is unique in its hexagon shape, giving distinct separation while taking advantage of the available views.

The living room has a wet bar conveniently located for snacks and beverages while entertaining. The shelves in the living/dining room may be used for books and displaying collectibles. French doors in the dining area open out onto a deck, which wraps around the entire back part of the home.

The pantry, kitchen counters and cabinets screen the work area and breakfast nook. The kitchen is plumbed for a vegetable sink in the middle of the work area, and the eating bar faces the main counter.

Two bedroom wings extend to the right and left. The right wing contains the master suite, with its vaulted bedroom, bathroom, shower, spa, vanity, and walk-in closet. A fireplace opens into both the master suite and bath. The left wing contains two smaller bedrooms, as well as an office, second bath, utility room, and the two-car garage.

The great separation between the right and left wings of the Claus offers maximum privacy. This allows children or guests privacy while not disturbing parents or hosts who may be enjoying the quiet atmosphere of the master suite.

For a study kit of the CLAUS (404-43LP60), send $10.00, to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Rd. E., Cottage Grove, OR 97424 (Be sure to specify plan name and number). For a collection of plan books featuring our most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark, or call 1-800-562-1151.

PET OF THE WEEK*Add a Little
"PEPPER"

"PEPPER" is a gorgeous - and we mean GORGEOUS, black and silver pure bred female keeshond. Just four years old, Pepper is in the prime of her life. She has the thick, luxurious, plush coat and outstanding personality traits that have endeared so many to this breed. Pepper is HOUSEBROKEN, GOOD WITH CHILDREN, and possesses an AFFECTIONATE, DOCILE and GENTLE nature. PEOPLE-ORIENTED and FRIENDLY, Pepper prefers to be the only dog in the household. This girl has an easy going, QUIET and very LOVING disposition. She is looking for a family that will provide her a nurturing, safe and loving home and the care this beautiful girl deserves. Pepper does not do well in a crate but can be confined in a room with baby gates until housebreaking is re-established in her new environment, if necessary. Pepper is a quiet beauty and a very special girl! You'll find her in Cage 82.

Dogs get excited about playtime
in a forest preserve site designed especially for canines

By CLAUDIA M. LEAHY
Regional Editor

It's a beautiful day in the heart of Lake County, and a group of about 20 dogs and their owners are gathered at a new dog park. The park, located in a forest preserve, is designed specifically for canines. It features a large, open area for dogs to run and play, as well as several smaller, fenced-in areas for more structured play. The park is surrounded by trees and flowers, creating a peaceful and scenic environment for dogs and their owners.

Challenge course teaches middle school boys teamwork and self-confidence

By BRYAN J. JAMES

It was a hot day in the heart of Lake County, and a group of about 20 middle school boys were gathered at a new challenge course. The course, located in a forest preserve, is designed to teach teamwork and self-confidence. It features a variety of obstacles, including ropes, logs, and bridges, that the boys must navigate in a team effort. The course is surrounded by trees and flowers, creating a peaceful and scenic environment for the boys and their coaches.

Hello, and welcome to 'Our Town'

Welcome to "Our Town," which is all about your town, friends and neighbors and, possibly, you may glimpse your own name in this column from time to time. As part of the new design here at Lakeland Newspapers, I will be writing a weekly column. To start off the first week I thought I should introduce myself.

I started my career with Lakeland Newspapers in October of 1995 and began covering Wadsworth in September of 1996, when the "Wadsworth News" was born.

I came to Lake County with my family, who relocated here from Tennessee. I've been somewhat of a nomad in the last 10 years or so. Even here in Lake County, I've lived in Lake Bluff and Gurnee, before my recent move to the Lincoln Park neighborhood in Chicago. My friends and relatives claim they no longer write my name in ink in their address books.

I spent the first few years of my life in Kaneohe, Oahu, Hawaii, then, unfortunately may I add, my parents decided to return to Midwest roots and moved to their hometown, Kankakee, Ill. For those of you not familiar with Kankakee, most people remember it as the place they stop for gas on their way to Champaign.

OUR TOWN

When I was in high school my family moved down south to Chattanooga, Tenn. I attended Notre Dame High School there, which was strategically located directly across the street from an all boys school, which happened to be the alma mater of Ted Turner. I suppose everyone knows where we spent our time after school.

I decided not to stick it out down there and returned to Illinois, where I finished high school in my hometown.

I graduated from Bishop McNamara High School in Kankakee, and Columbia College in Chicago. In college I started out as a public relations major, but found my way into the journalism program. My affinity for writing was sparked by the fact that I always had my nose buried in a book as a kid.

Covering Wadsworth brings back memories for me of my own family. My grandpa, Eaken, was a farmer in Iroquois County and the town my grandparents lived in was a little country hamlet similar to Wadsworth, although it was definitely in a more remote location.

Often, I'm reminded of my hometown when talking with residents of the area, who reminisce about the way things used to be and where they're heading. Everyone in Newport Township seems to know everyone else, either as distant relatives, neighbors, or former classmates.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Elizabeth Eaken at 223-8181, ext. 170 or e-mail, edit1@lnd.com.

Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

Robert 'Rob' H. Diehl Jr.

On Tuesday, April 29, 1997, Robert "Rob" H. Diehl Jr. laid his artistic tools to rest and brought his creativity to a close at Midwestern Regional Medical Center, Zion after a valiant fight with leukemia. Rob was born Dec. 10, 1977 in Waukegan and was a graduate of Zion-Benton Township High School class of 1997. He had worked for Piggly-Wiggly both in Zion and in Grayslake and also worked at the Zion Subway. Rob interests included story writing, art, reading, pottery and jewelry making and he was Art Editor of the Grayslake Literary and Art magazine. He was also a strong participant in the NIU Art Camp for the past three summers because of scholarships provided by NIU and local residents. His career interests and goals included becoming comic book editor, an art teacher, or a special effects creator for Hollywood movies. Recently he was the recipient of a Certificate of Recognition by the Art Dept. of Zion-Benton Township High School and currently one of his many accomplishments is his art work on permanent display at Grayslake High School.

Rob is survived by parents Debra Diehl of Beach Park and Robert (Carolyn) Diehl of Grayslake; one brother Michael Diehl; his half brother and sister James and Nikole; his maternal grandmother Georgia Coates of Beach Park; and numerous aunts, uncles and cousins. He is preceded in death by his maternal grandfather Thomas Coates and his paternal grandparents Raymond and Caroline Diehl.

Funeral services were held at the Congdon Funeral Home, Zion with Dr. Gessel Berry Jr. of Memorial United Methodist Church, Zion, officiating with cremation following.

In lieu of flowers, an art scholarship fund at ZBTHS is being established in Rob's name.

PUBLIC NOTICE

WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT

1997/98 PREVAILING WAGE ORDINANCE

97-0-2

WHEREAS, the State of Illinois has enacted "An Act regulating wages of laborers, mechanics, and other workers employed in any public works by the state, county, city or any public body or any political subdivision or by anyone under contract for public works," approved June 26, 1941, as amended, (Ill. Rev. Stat. 1987, Ch. 48, Par. 39S-1, et seq., as amended by Public Acts 86-799 and 86-693), and

WHEREAS, the aforesaid Act requires that the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT investigate and ascertain the prevailing rate of wages as defined in said Act for laborers, mechanics, and other workers in the locality of the district employed in performing construction of public works for the District.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE PRESIDENT AND BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT:

SECTION 1: To the extent and as required by "An Act regulating wages of laborers, mechanics, and other workers employed in any public works by the state, county, city or any public body or any political subdivision or by anyone under contract for public works," approved June 26, 1941, as amended, the general prevailing rate of wages in this locality for laborers, mechanics and other workers engaged in construction of public works coming under the jurisdiction of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT is hereby ascertained to be the same as the prevailing rate of wages for construction work in Lake County as determined by the Department of Labor of the State of Illinois as of June of the current year. A copy of said determination is attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference. As required by said Act, any and all revisions of the prevailing rate of wages by the Department of Labor of the State of Illinois shall supersede the Department's June determination and apply to any and all public works construction undertaken by the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT. The definition of any terms appearing in this ordinance which are also used in the aforesaid Act shall be the same as in said Act.

SECTION 2: Nothing herein contained shall be construed to apply said general prevailing rate of wages as herein ascertained to any work or employment, except public works construction of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT to the extent required by the aforesaid Act.

SECTION 3: The President of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT shall publicly post or keep available for inspection by any interested party in the main office of the district this determination of any revisions of such prevailing rate of wage. A copy of this determination, or of the current revised determination of the prevailing rate of wages then in effect, shall be attached to all contract specifications.

SECTION 4: The President of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT shall mail a copy of this determination to any employer and to any association of employers, and to any person or association of employees who have filed their names and addresses requesting copies of any determination, stating the particular rates and particular class or workers whose wages will be affected by such rates.

SECTION 5: The President of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT shall promptly file a certified copy of this Ordinance with both the Secretary of State Index Division and the Illinois Department of Labor.

SECTION 6: The President of the WAUCONDA FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICT shall cause to be published in a newspaper of general circulation within the area a copy of this ordinance. Such publication shall constitute notice that the determination is effective, and that this is the determination of this public body.

PASSED this 30th day of April, 1997.

220 Help Wanted Full Time

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Dear Search,
I am writing this to you with hope that you can help with a problem that I have just encountered. I have been suspended from my position with (company name withheld), for an undetermined time without pay, pending as they say, "further investigation". I have worked for (name withheld) for almost 3 years and have a pretty good attendance record and am not what one might call a "trouble maker". I called in sick to work last week because I had hurt my leg while playing baseball with some friends over the weekend. I went to the hospital where I had an x-ray, and was given some medication for the pain. While my leg was not broken, they wrapped it up with a bandage, said it was a sprain, gave me some crutches to use and told me to keep off my feet for 3 days. I was also told to return to see the doctor on the 3rd day to see how things were going and if the swelling had gone down. At which point they would take another x-ray. I called my employer and explained the situation and said that I had a note from the doctor, barring me from work for a few days. They said they understood, and that I should call them when I got the doctor to release me to go back to work. The 3rd day I went in and the doctor said that I should take the remainder of the week off to let the swelling go down and I did. I, of course, called my employer to inform them and they said that was ok. The following Monday I reported back to work as planned with a bit of a limp but no crutches and I was fine. I was called to personnel office two days later and told that I was suspended without pay. All this for missing a week of work. No reason was given other than they would be in touch with me. I cannot afford to be without work and it has been three additional days beyond the week I have already missed. I have been told by a friend that you help people in strange situations like this. I don't think that it is legal for a company to suspend someone while they are under a doctor's care especially when I have been such a good employee. I would appreciate anything that you can do to help me go back to work.
A.G.R.—Round Lake Beach

Dear A.G.R.,
I can probably guide you on the road to getting back to work, but unfortunately as of the printing of this column, it will not be with your former employer, as by now I am sure you, yourself have found out, you have been terminated. Yes, you did have a suitable attendance record with your company, and a formidable review or two with them in almost 3 years of employment. And yes, you even had a doctor order to refrain from going to work which in most cases is upheld. What you failed to mention, however in the course of this lengthy scenario, is that when this injury occurred, you went to your local hospital for treatment and told them that the injury was sustained at work. Unfortunately, as you have admitted as well in this letter to me, it was not. Once you told the hospital that this happened at work it became a workman's compensation claim. How was it found out? Your employer received the bills for what is now determined to be "fraud". The information from an investigation put out by your former employer has confirmed this to me as well, and by the time that you receive your response in this column, you may be finding yourself in need of not only a new job, but an attorney as well. Your former employer has decided (as I was told you have been informed), to take this matter a step further. I would say to you, "good luck", but at this point, I think you may need something more than that.
Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee.
Letters can be sent to Nancy Sakol c/o Lakeland Newspapers, P.O. Box 268, Grayslake, IL 60030
